INTRODUCTORY INFORMATION AND READINGS

ROLE OF CHAIRS/DIRECTORS

Department Chairs

By Artin Arslanian

(Bennett and Figuli, eds., Enhancing Departmental Leadership, pp. 5-7)

It was by a haphazard process of selection that I became chair of a medium-sized department (10 FTE's). I came to the position unexpectedly and quite unprepared. This was true for many of the new chairs on campus. Most of us had not read about departmental leadership, and our requests to the administration of the college for an orientation seminar went unanswered. Although some of us solicited advice from experienced chairs on campus, it is safe to say that we embarked on our tasks with little experience but full of good intentions. We were resolved to nurture departmental collegiality, encourage excellence in teaching and scholarship, and improve the departmental image on and off campus. We soon learned that these lofty goals were not easily accomplished. We tried our best – with mixed results.

I jotted down a few pointers for the new chair when I recently moved to another college. These are distilled from my experience and the thoughts of other chairs. I share these knowing full well that differences in institutional size, mission, and philosophy may invalidate some of them.

- Always work within the philosophic and pedagogic tradition, and budgetary guidelines of your college. There should be a good fit between your plans and the institutional goals and realities. Ideas and methods considered brilliant in one institution might be damned in another with a different mission, tradition, structure, and clientele.
- Learn to say no early. Resources of all kinds are limited and are invariably outpaced by demand. Do not concentrate most of the resources on a few: all members should receive their fair share. However, make public the criteria informing the distribution of departmental funds and use them consistently; otherwise you'll be (rightly) accused of favoritism or shiftiness.
- Fight the urge to do something as soon as a colleague complains against another or in case of a crisis. First, hear out all parties involved and try to ascertain the facts. Do not become an intermediary or messenger between the feuding parties – this will further complicate the problem. Call the grieving individuals to your office, discuss their concerns and ask them to work out a solution, reminding them that we are condemned to live together as a family in these days of almost nonexistent career mobility.
- When chairing departmental meetings, state the issues and let all present have their say first. Do not begin by arguing your case or solutions as it will create the semblance of an adversarial relationship with those who disagree with you – they may not even bother to express their opinions. Try to maintain an atmosphere conducive to discussion by all members of the department at the price of not having sufficient opportunity to elaborate your position fully. If here is a minority view, give its proponents a second or third opportunity to make their case, but avoid taking formal votes that tend to create winners and losers. Summarize the majority view in such a way as to make some concessions to the concerns of the minority and announce it as the reflection of the department's thinking.

- Do not discuss the shortcomings and weaknesses of the department's members with others if you want to enhance your credibility and the image of the department. Always talk about their contribution, accomplishments, and strength, especially in the case of those who are rumored to have criticized you in public.
- Avoid creating an inquisitional atmosphere when evaluating for tenure, promotion, salary raises, or merit pay. Required, frequent, and systematic evaluations are the key to a potentially difficult and sometimes explosive situation. Frequent discussions with individual faculty members about teaching, publications, professional growth, and involvement in the life of the college community create a relaxed environment for open discussion. But make sure to give equal time to the faculty members for the evaluation of your performance as chair and discussion of departmental goals, problems, and priorities. If done frequently and systematically, this procedure will greatly ease the tense atmosphere that permeates yearly evaluations.
- Read the papers and publications of the members of your department, discuss their works with them, and honor their accomplishments in the department and in the wider college community.
- Make sure that candidates visiting the campus are treated professionally. Provide them with pertinent information about departmental needs, educational philosophy, salary, and benefits, but refrain (and restrain others) from gossiping about the members of the department, the faculty at large, or the administration. Indiscretions of this sort have a way of haunting the department, and sometimes the college, whether that candidate is offered a job or not.
- If a colleague takes a problem to the dean's office before resorting to all the departmental procedures, do not invest additional time on the matter. Just inform the dean that the faculty member has failed to exhaust the departmental grievance procedures. A wise dean will refer the case back to the department, lest a precedent be set that will soon flood his office with requests from faculty.
- Do not check your mail after hours or on weekends. If there are problems, there is very little that you can do about them when everyone is away from the campus. Most probably the only thing you will accomplish is to ruin your evening or weekend!

I am sure that others can easily supplement this list from their experience. Let me close with a confession: I failed to follow some of these guidelines – and often paid the price!

Folks:

The posting below has some excellent advice for new, and existing, department chairs. It is by Jeffrey L. ### Tomorrow's Academia: Advice for Future Department Chairs

People become Department Chairs for any number of reasons, but regardless of the avenues that bring them to the position, there are bound to be questions about how to prepare, what qualities to develop, and what knowledge to gain. No one can be completely prepared for the challenges of the chair position because it is impossible to perfectly predict the situations that will arise. Nevertheless, the following suggestions provide some general advice to keep in mind whether you are actively seeking the position or you are appointed to it.

Learn the Technical Operation of Your Institution

You probably have a good understanding of how curriculum proposals are approved, budgets are set, disputes are negotiated, and searches are approved within your department. (If you don't, stop reading and go find out now. This knowledge is essential.) But how do these processes work outside your department? For example, which office -- in fact, which specific person in which office -- is contacted when the roof is leaking? Aside from recording students' schedules and grades, what are the responsibilities of the registrar's office? Who ensures that commencement runs smoothly? If an alumnus needs to have a diploma replaced, how do you handle this request? If you wish to change the number of credits required for a major in your discipline, which bodies must approve your proposal and when does it become official? As chair, you will daily be asked questions about the way your department functions and the operational processes of your institution as a whole. Knowing this information will make you more effective.

Develop Conflict Management and Resolution Skills

No matter how collegial your department may be, the occasional dispute will arise. If your institution offers training in dispute mediation, register for it. If this type of training is not available at your institution, local community colleges or continuing education programs frequently offer it. If neither of these options is available, read a book devoted to this topic. Learn in advance what approaches are most likely to lead to a satisfactory resolution of the conflict. Once issue flairs up at a department meeting or is dropped in your lap, it's usually too late to start developing the skills you need to address it.

Balance Your Administrative Duties with Your Remaining Workload

Some faculty view the chair position as a "career killer": The job takes time away from the research and course improvement needed for promotion, and it holds a high probability of alienating other faculty members when tough decisions are made, yet promises only a low probability of making friends and influencing people." These concerns should be carefully considered, but their reality is less frightening. For every example of a career suffering even modestly because of service as chair, there are dozens of examples of people who are able to successfully balance administration, teaching, and research and whose willingness to make difficult decisions gained them the respect of their peers. Be reasonable about your workload and plan accordingly. Talk to your dean to see if you can gain a better sense of how the demands of the position might affect your schedule. Perhaps you can negotiate an additional course release in order to keep an important scholarly project on track, make arrangements to team-teach a course, or receive additional graduate support for your research project. Most senior administrators have confronted the same question of balancing priorities, and you will discover that there is far more understanding and support than you may realize. Be candid with your dean about your fears. You will likely receive advice on how to handle difficult situations, and you will gain a clearer sense of how well you'll be supported by upper administration.

Become Familiar with Parliamentary Procedure

Parliamentary procedure will help you negotiate the complexities of the committee structure on your campus, allow you to be more effective in amending or tabling motions when necessary, and place you in a position where your issues are more likely to help shape your institution's agenda. In the heat of a particularly intense debate, claims are often made that parliamentary procedure requires this or that. Since most faculty have only a general sense of whether the claim may be true, decisions can be made that could have been more effectively challenged or debated. Use available resources to acquire expertise in the basics of conducting meetings and the priority of various types of motions.

Pick Your Battles

A chair cannot fix every problem or advance every initiative. Those who try either scatter their energies too widely or make the department nervous that everything is going to change. (New chairs will learn that no department is ever ready for as much change as they claim to be.) It is more productive for chairs to focus their attention on a few important improvements than to try to do too much. After your term as chair is over your legacy is likely to be only one or two significant achievements anyway. Do those well and you will have made the best contribution possible.

Expand Your View

As chair, you will need to advocate for and view matters from the entire purview of your discipline. At the very least, you will need to start thinking of yourself as a psychologist rather than as a clinical psychologist, a historian rather than as a U.S. historian, a physicist rather than as a solid state physicist. Consider issues from the perspective of your entire college, institution, or university system. It can sometimes be better to forgo a more immediate desire for the benefit of a longer-term need. Every department and institution is different, but in general you'll benefit most by making decisions based on what you believe is right than on what you believe is expedient. Postponing the creation of a new department line to increase staffing in admissions or the development office could alter the financial chemistry of your institution so that there are more new lines in the future. Allowing a new position to be added in another department may serve your majors better than staffing a new position in your own department. Like a chess player, an effective Department Chair must view the entire board to see how an individual move affects every other. You will be a far better advocate for your discipline if you understand how it fits into the overall needs of students, faculty, and other university constituents.

It's Not Personal

If you've ever had the privilege of directing students in a play or taking them on an extended trip abroad, you're well aware of the phenomenon of suddenly becoming the lightning rod for others' discontent. The wise director or program leader knows this is going to happen and doesn't take it personally. Somehow, this lesson, so easily learned in situations involving students, is harder to recall when we're dealing with faculty. The psychology that occurs during long, intense work with any group will occur when you're serving as Department Chair. One or more faculty members may sometimes treat you coldly, and you'll be convinced that they're upset with something you did or said. Only later will you discover that the cause of their apparent rudeness had nothing at all to do with you. On other days, faculty will blame you for everything that is going wrong, even if you had no control over the situation. Don't let this common occurrence distract you from what you need to do and want to accomplish. As chair, you will occasionally be the object of frustration and animosity simply because these emotions require some outlet. Remember that all that anger is really directed at the chair itself, not at you as a person.

Find a Mentor

Every new chair can benefit from occasional conversations with someone who has gone through the same experiences and who knows how the system works. If your institution does not provide you with a formal mentor, take the initiative to find your own. Choose a chair or former chair in a department that is similar to yours in size, mission, or focus. It is generally best that your mentor not be a former chair of your department. Such an individual, while wanting in most cases to be helpful, is likely still to be involved (at least tangentially) in department politics and anything you say could be used against you. Former chairs of your department will inevitably have an agenda and their own way of doing things; your goal is to discover the way that works best for you, not to adopt what worked well for someone else. Your mentor will provide you with advice and counsel, but it is up to you to decide whether to follow that advice.

Find a Confidante

Find someone you can talk to, even vent to, when necessary. Having a person to whom you can turn when you need to voice your frustrations is not the same as having a mentor. Mentors provide advice; confidantes lend an ear. A good confidante is someone you can talk to freely without worrying that it's going to get back to your faculty or upper administration. For this reason, the person you choose as an outlet for your deepest concerns and annoyances should never be a member of your current institution. The further away from your institution this person is, the better. Everyone needs someone to vent to now and then, but do so wisely and only when it is absolutely necessary. No one likes to feel that every time they hear from someone it is about a new complaint. Moreover, even the things you say in the greatest confidence could be repeated to the wrong people. Use your confidante carefully, and cherish a good one who comes your way.

Gain Experience from Every Opportunity

If there is time before you begin your term as Department Chair, seek out opportunities to serve on as many department committees as possible. Heading a committee can help you hone your organizational skills. Serving on a committee headed by someone else exposes you to different models of leadership.

Each committee you work with will educate you about another aspect of your department and how it works. Serving on college- or institution-wide committees can also expand your contact with the individuals and offices that can help you do your job better when you're chair. Volunteering for search committees outside your area can be particularly productive: You'll improve the skills needed to implement searches yourself, and you'll have an opportunity to ask candidates about methods used to solve particular problems at the institutions where they're currently working or studying. All committee work, no matter how dreary or routine, will provide you with at least some new insights or perspectives. Don't lose the chance to take full advantage of these opportunities.

LESSONS LEARNED AS A DEPARTMENT CHAIR

The Stanford University Center for Teaching and Learning <http://ctl.stanford.edu>. An archive of all past postings (with a two week delay) can be found at <http://cgi.stanford.edu/~dept-ctl/cgi-bin/tomprof/postings.php>

Folks:

The posting below is a valuable "lessons learned" list from a former department chair, Matthew Lombard, of the Department of Broadcasting, Telecommunications and Mass Media at Temple University in Philadelphia, (lombard@temple.edu). The comments should be of interest to both regular faculty and other department chairs.

Lessons Learned as a Department Chair

For whatever it may or may not be worth, before I end this last message as chair I want to tell you some of the things I've learned or had reinforced while in the job (apologies to those who suffered as I learned!):

- Administration is critically important to a successful department, school and university and involves a lot more than most of those who aren't administrators think.
- Effective, regular communication at all levels is critically important for successful administration.
- Too many administrators (as too many faculty and people generally of course) aren't effective communicators.
- Policies and procedures, and the interests of the department and institution, are very important, but people - and treating them with fairness, honesty, respect and compassion - are more important.
- High faculty and staff morale, which depends on effective communication and valuing people over policy among other things, is critically important for successful administration and makes life a lot more pleasant.
- Many meetings are of limited value - too often they're scheduled because they've always been scheduled, they last too long, they feature announcements that are more suited to e-mail or other formats, the distributed agendas are too general and/or not followed, the agenda tasks could be accomplished in focused discussions among smaller groups of people, etc.
- A seemingly limitless number of formal and informal barriers and challenges often make trying to accomplish administrative goals incredibly frustrating, but finally accomplishing them can be very satisfying.

- Nearly all academic administrators both impose decisions (top down administration) and determine and implement the decisions of their colleagues (bottom up administration); finding the right balance between the two is essential to success; I think the most effective administrators lead not by imposing or following but by whenever possible guiding discussions to build reasonable and practical consensus.
- There's only so much time and energy, so administrators can choose to do more things less carefully and thus less well, or fewer things more carefully and thus more effectively; again, finding the right balance is essential to success (if I err, I prefer to err on the side of doing fewer things better).
- Successful administrators (as others) invest great amounts of time and physical and emotional energy into their job but they always remember it's just a job (we all may feel indispensable at times but our institution will carry on with or without us - it's more important to enjoy our life).
- Effective administrators at all levels seek to make incremental and infrequent but regular, scheduled changes rather than shock-to-the-system, constant and unpredictable changes.
- The best administrators always remember that faculty are peers and not subordinates, and treat them accordingly.
- Effective administrators keep organized records for their own and their successors' use, and know that statements and promises are nice but having and keeping them in writing is better (though still not always a guarantee).
- The vast majority of faculty (and administrators for that matter) are hardworking, cooperative, and collegial; unfortunately administrators have to spend too much time thinking about and dealing with the others.
- Administrators (and the rest of us) have to find the right balance between short, terse, bullet-pointed communications (reports, e-mail messages, etc.) and long, detailed, elaborate communications; I tend to favor the latter too much but I'm working on it (so that's my last bullet point here!)."

MYTHS THAT MAKE CHAIRS FEEL THEY ARE POWERLESS

From the November 1999 AAHE Bulletin

Six fallacies that stifle change — and how to overcome them

By Ann F. Lucas

After decades of giving unquestioning respect, the public has become demanding, critical, and angry with higher education. Employers are dissatisfied with graduates who lack skills in oral and written communication, critical-thinking ability, and being effective team members. Moreover, after almost two decades of downsizing, and the perception that no one's job is safe even though the organization is doing well, the public is angry at the sense of entitlement of academics who retain tenure, whether or not they are productive. This is the source of much of the external pressure for post-tenure review.

Higher education must respond to external criticism that demands change in the system, and to internal awareness of challenges arising from virtual universities and corporate classrooms. Whether that change is improving student learning, relating methodology to course objectives, curriculum renewal, or broader interventions such as outcomes assessment, service-learning, or integrating technology, chairs often feel helpless in the face of necessary innovation.

Developing faculty who will be responsive to these kinds of changes seems a formidable task to chairs. Despite the colossal need for leadership at the departmental level, and the position that the American Association for Higher Education and the Pew Roundtables have taken that the department is the place where change should begin, chairs often state that there is nothing they can do to initiate change in the department. Not only do they not know how to be change agents, they do not believe that they have the power to bring about change. Fewer than one-third of 4,500 chairs in self-report data I have collected reported any degree of success in motivating difficult colleagues or poor teachers who are tenured. Chairs also report problems in getting faculty to accept a "fair share" of the work of the department, and in dealing with conflict in the department. There is a feeling of powerlessness in the face of such difficulties, primarily because faculty are tenured and thus presumably resistive to change. On campus after campus, chairs have repeated to me a series of myths they believe as justification for being unable to modify the status quo.

A myth, particularly one in which there is a strong belief, is a fixed perception of a situation that in turn dictates what an individual can control and what cannot be changed. The "rules of the game" develop from such an attribution or label; for example, whether chairs will try to deal with difficult colleagues, or ignore the situation because they believe there is nothing they can do that will make a difference. Thus, chairs build high walls around themselves and around circumstances that not only control their behavior but justify how they choose to behave. Whenever individuals describe a situation as having no solution, or see it only as a dichotomy having just two opposed alternatives, it is probable that they are engaging in premature closure. In other words, they have stopped trying to generate options to the problem, and often put themselves in no-win situations.

From my observations, here are the six most frequent fixed beliefs, or myths, that are dysfunctional for the chairs who hold them, accompanied each time by my rebuttal.

1. "I am elected by my colleagues to serve at their pleasure for only three or four years, then I will be a faculty member again. Therefore, there is nothing I can do to deal with the problems."

The belief in an inability to do anything as chair because a person is simply a peer among equals conveys an aura of humility and democracy in action; yet it can effectively leave a department without a leader. Particularly when a chair is elected by peers for a limited term, choosing to be a team leader is a valuable choice of leadership style. As team leader, a chair can take an active role in seeking meaningful input and full participation from everyone in the department so that faculty members can plan and organize themselves to function most effectively. Being a team leader requires setting shared goals with the department and individual goals with individual faculty members so that everyone can focus on how they can achieve departmental goals while realizing their own. Goal setting with individuals and providing feedback on performance in a supportive climate are the strongest forces a chair can use for motivating faculty. When chairs are passive because they feel there is nothing they can do, departments, and often faculty, stagnate.

2. "It is my turn in the barrel. I don't particularly want to be chair, but we all have to take a turn."

Given academic norms that administration of any sort is a necessary evil, such statements by an incoming Department Chair do not usually raise concern among faculty; on the contrary, faculty often worry that people who want to be chair may be seeking power. However, when someone doesn't want to be chair, neither the department nor its faculty will benefit by having a person in that role simply because it is his or her "turn." What is most likely is that such an individual will behave in a passive-resistive fashion and accomplish nothing for the department. Whenever he or she is chided for not taking some responsibility, the response can always be, "But I didn't ask to be chair."

3. "I am simply a peer among equals. I am not a manager."

This is a good example of generating only two options. "I am either a peer or a manager. There is nothing in between." As chair, an individual is no longer just a peer among equals. Chairs have responsibilities that are different from those of faculty members. Although all chairs have to perform some management functions, they don't have to become managers; they can become leaders.

4. "I have neither carrot nor stick. It is not possible either to reward or punish faculty members."

It is simplistic to think that rewards include only economic benefits, and that punishment means only the firing of a faculty member. There are many more meaningful ways to reward people; and punishment has so many negative side effects, it is rarely an alternative of choice in motivating others. When chairs are respected colleagues, they have the ability to reinforce faculty for the latter's work. Being taken seriously by a colleague who appreciates the quality of what an individual is doing is both rewarding and motivating. Moreover, chairs usually have major input into personnel decision making, scheduling of courses, release time, and allocation of resources. Therefore, despite the fact that it is not realistic, the perception that chairs have "neither carrot nor stick" certainly contributes to their feelings of powerlessness.

5. "I am neither fish nor fowl. Being neither faculty member nor administrator, my role is not clear."

Granted that role conflict is stressful, a chair must be the conduit between faculty and administration, representing the needs of each to the other. This requires that a chair be an articulate spokesperson for department members to administration. It is also necessary for a chair to be a public relations person for faculty members so that their accomplishments, their impact on the discipline at the state or national level, and their outreach to the community can be appreciated by the rest of the university.

In addition, however, because they represent administration to faculty, chairs must at times advance points of view that represent what is deemed to be good for the college or university over what is perceived as good for individual faculty members. For example, faculty often strongly resist a chair's request that they teach an 8 a.m. class, a late evening course, or a course that meets three times a week. In each of these cases, faculty may feel that the chair has lost the ability to identify with colleagues and is behaving like an administrator. Chairs must handle such conflict in their roles with tact, fairness, and good humor.

6. "I have no power. Therefore, I can do nothing."

Many chairs feel they have no power, though this perception is not usually accurate. In the context of the work of the chair, power is the ability to influence faculty to achieve their own goals as they accomplish the work of the department. Chairs have enough power to motivate faculty to increase student learning by teaching effectively, to increase scholarly productivity, and to increase service or outreach activities. All they need is to know how to go about it.

The kinds of power that chairs have to motivate faculty include position power, personal power, and expert power. Position power, often referred to as legitimate power, is related to the authority individuals have simply because of their positions. The extent to which chairs control rewards and punishments varies markedly from one institution to another, but when their input on administrative matters is weighted heavily by a college or university, their position power is increased. Thus, chairs have strong position power when their judgment is given serious consideration in personnel decision making.

Position power is by and large a given. Personal power, however, varies considerably and can be increased in legitimate ways. If chairs treat everyone with respect, if they are perceived as working for and fighting for the well-being of their faculty members when the cause is just, if chairs create a supportive climate in the department, and if they give people recognition and visibility for their achievements, their personal power becomes greater.

A third kind of power is expert power, which is based on knowledge and control of resources. Chairs usually know better than faculty how to get things accomplished in a college or university, particularly how to do things that are not described in faculty handbooks and other formal documents.

Overcoming Mythology

Chairs do have considerable power, then, but when they believe these six myths their effectiveness is undoubtedly reduced. However, institutions also have great responsibility for enhancing competent leadership by taking the chair role more seriously. Although the 80,000 chairs in colleges and universities constitute a knowledgeable body of leadership and influence, too often they are overlooked as the valuable resource they can be. There is little evidence that sufficient care is given to selection, training, professional development, and support of chairs.

Furthermore, if chairs are to be good team leaders and effective agents of change, they need to learn how to initiate those difficult conversations in which the collective wisdom of their colleagues is gathered so that commitment is developed to confront challenges that face their departments. Chairs need to learn the skills for leading change. Chairs must learn how to confront and manage negative behaviors of faculty and staff. They need to learn more about motivating department members. Chairs must master skills in creating a supportive communication climate, managing constructive feedback, resolving conflict, and be engaged in their own ongoing leadership development. In addition, some of the mind-deadening paperwork — the primary complaint of chairs — must be handled by computer or delegated to a technical assistant or a competent secretary so that chairs have time to be leaders.

I. Faculty Recruitment: Skidmore College: Faculty Search Process

This document outlines the major components in the academic search process for tenure-track and faculty. These inclusive search practices will vary depending on the department, program, discipline, and nature of the position. As a general rule, departments and programs may not conduct more than one tenure-track search in the same academic year. Departments who wish to do so, will need to submit a detailed rationale.

A. How to Submit a Proposal for a Tenure-Track Search

Tenure-track faculty appointments are the most important resource the College possesses. Given that they represent very long-term commitments (30 years or more), placing new tenure lines judiciously is of the utmost importance. Likewise, if we automatically replace every person who leaves the College (because of retirement or other reasons) with someone who possesses similar expertise, we severely limit our ability to develop new areas, react to developments in disciplines or enrollments, support interdisciplinary programs, deliver all-College requirements, etc. It means that the College has little flexibility in faculty staffing except to add new, tenure-track faculty lines, which is limited by resources.

In order to ensure that all new or replacement faculty lines receive equal consideration, departments seeking to obtain a new line or to retain an existing line will submit a proposal to the DOF/VPAA. The proposal should provide a full and well articulated rationale and will be due in October with other operating budget requests. Allocation of lines will occur by the following spring semester in order for recruitment to begin in late summer or in the fall.

Guidelines for Tenure-Track Line Search Proposals

The following framework may prove useful in drafting a proposal for consideration for a tenure-track line search in.

We encourage departments to develop proposals that address the relevant objectives in the Strategic Plan, and how the tenure-track line will address broader cross-disciplinary or emerging areas in our liberal arts curriculum. In thinking strategically about ways to recruit new faculty, it is important to recognize that graduate programs are producing scholars who are increasingly cross-disciplinary and able to address a broad range of curricular areas and/or support disciplinary interests across departments and programs. The DOF/VPAA Office is particularly interested in departmental proposals for tenure track lines that articulate structural ways to bridge appointments across disciplinary areas. Please note that Part One, Sect. V, B and C of the Faculty Handbook provides guidelines for this type of appointment. In addition, the DOF/VPAA Office recognizes that departments may propose tenure-track requests that will focus on specific disciplinary programmatic and curricular needs. In all cases, proposals should address the supporting rationale for a particular approach. Though they are not the driving force, or even the most important criteria, enrollment projections and historical trends with respect to majors should be helpful in developing the justification for any tenure track line request, as well as the ways in which the new line will contribute to interdisciplinary programs.

All new tenure-track appointments are expected to contribute to the First-Year Experience program by teaching a Scribner Seminar on a cyclical basis based on departmental contributions to the program. Since the Scribner Seminars are mostly taught by tenure-track and tenured faculty, these contributions are part of the regular portfolio of courses that all tenure-track and tenured faculty are expected to fulfill and therefore do not constitute exceptional contributions. Furthermore, all tenure-track searches are expected to generate an inclusive pool of candidates such that the College can continue to enhance faculty diversity. Because this effort is an objective of Goal II of the Strategic Plan, all search plans should address how departments anticipate creating a rich and diverse pool of candidates.

Given these parameters, departments submitting proposals for tenure-track lines should clearly indicate which of the following two broad categories are applicable:

- 1) Positions that will contribute primarily to the programmatic and curricular needs of an individual department or program. These positions will be expected to contribute to the Scribner Seminar program and/or other all-College requirements.
- 2) Positions that will contribute substantively to the programmatic and curricular goals of more than one department or program. These positions will also be expected to contribute to the Scribner Seminar program and/or other all-College requirements. Proposals in this category should provide supporting documentation from the partnering department or program so that the nature of the cross-disciplinary interaction is evident.

As noted earlier, all proposals for tenure-track lines should include search plans, search committee membership, and timelines. The DOF/VPAA will issue a call for proposals in late September. Following consultation with Academic Affairs, departments will be notified in the spring semester as to whether they will receive permission to search for a tenure-track.

The proposal should address:

- How the position will contribute to the program's goals and curricular needs of the department/program
- How the position will contribute to strategic planning initiatives, interdisciplinary programs, other departments, all-College requirements, etc.
- Records/projections of student enrollments, especially enrollments below 10 at all levels
- History of the number of majors

Exceptions to this policy are failed searches, in which case the approval to search for a new line will be streamlined. However, in non-renewal of third-year reappointment and tenure cases, justifications regarding the line's configuration need to be made and approved, according to the described criteria, by the DOF/VPAA.

1. Developing an Inclusive Search Plan and a Search Committee Process for Tenure-Track Appointments

- a. The size and composition of the Search Committee will depend on whether the line is departmentally based or across departments and/or programs.
- b. In the case of departmentally based tenure-track lines, the Chair of the search committee may be the Department Chair or a senior member of the department.
  - The Search Committee representation from within departments should include:
    - representation of diverse perspectives
    - representation from across the ranks
  - All Search Committees should include members from other department(s) or program(s) preferably with shared research or teaching interests.
  - All Search Committees will include a diversity advocate who will participate in all stages of the search.
  - Representation from other departments or programs which will broaden the search process also may occur at various stages of the search (review of applications, search committee meetings, off campus interviews, on campus interviews, etc.).
- c. In the case of across department and/or program tenure-track lines, the Search Committee should include representation from both the departments or department and interdisciplinary program involved. The Chair of the Search Committee will be agreed upon by the partnering units.
  - The Search Committee representation from the departments or programs should include:
    - a diversity advocate
    - representation of diverse perspectives
    - representation from across the ranks
- d. The charge to the Search Committee should be established by the Department Chair and/or Program Director in consultation with the departmental faculty and the DOF/VPAA. The charge should include the following:
  - A position description
  - A search plan and the scope of the search including the process to ensure a diverse pool of candidates
  - The timeline for the search process
  - A statement of committee values and decision-making processes
  - If necessary, a statement of confidentiality practices for each stage of the search
- e. What to include in the Search Plan:
  - The justification for the position (may be a summary of original position request)
  - Position description and candidates' desired qualifications
  - Search Committee membership and roles
  - An advertisement draft

- Proposed advertisement placements: target location, deadlines, length of placement
  - Conference attendance plans
  - Anticipated start-up or scholarly support costs
  - The timeline should include due dates for applications, for review of CVs and other materials (scholarship, teaching evaluations, etc.), conference dates for off- and on-campus interviews, reference checking, request for additional funding with rationale and completion date of the search
- f. Submit the Search Plan to the DOF/VPAA.
- g. Consult with the DOF/VPAA about funding of travel costs to conferences (or other expenses) associated with participants from both inside or outside the department or program.

2. Developing a Position Description, Profile and Advertisement

- a. A position description should include: roles, responsibilities, functions, expectations, and minimum qualifications of candidates.
- b. Position Profile Qualifications: qualities of an ideal candidate, degree requirements, teaching experience, area of specialization, research interests and record, and demonstrated experience that align with department and institutional priorities and goals.
- c. The advertisement should be constructed in such a way as to attract a diverse pool of applicants, and submitted for review and approval to the ADOF for Personnel, Development, and Diversity prior to submission to Human Resources.
- d. The Chair submits the ad and the potential placement to the Assistant Director for EEO and Workforce Diversity for review and the EEO statement.

3. Recruiting an Inclusive Candidate Pool

- a. In order to attract a diverse pool of candidates, the chair is encouraged to target key graduate programs, professional publications, web sites, list serves and print media. S/he should consider email, direct calls, and contact with professional colleagues or senior administrators at other institutions who may have the potential to assist with the identification of diverse candidates.
- b. The DOF/VPAA, in consultation with the ADOF for Personnel, Development, and Diversity or designee, will review and approve the pool of candidates before phone or conference interviews are arranged. Should they determine that the pool is not sufficiently inclusive, they may ask for additional information.
- c. The DOF/VPAA, in consultation with the ADOF for Personnel, Development, and Diversity or designee, will review and approve the final pool of candidates before campus interview invitations are extended. Should they determine that the pool is not sufficiently inclusive, they may ask for additional information and request that additional steps be taken. Please provide CVs of top candidates selected for on-campus interviews along with a summary of the finalists' pool including demographic data before scheduling campus visits.

4. Campus visits

- a. Campus visits may include any and all of the following: departmental seminars, teaching and/or research talks; meetings with students; meetings with other departments or program faculty, as appropriate; with the ambassadors; a campus tour; and a community tour.
- b. Ambassadors Program: Meetings with particular constituencies or individuals that offer candidates the opportunity to ask questions and explore cultural and social considerations outside the scope of the search are strongly encouraged.
- c. All finalists will meet with the DOF/VPAA and the ADOF for Personnel, Development, and Diversity or designee during their on-campus interview.
- d. Before constructing the itinerary:
  - Contact the DOF/VPAA Office to schedule appointments for interviews with the DOF/VPAA (x 5705) and ADOF for Personnel, Development, and Diversity, and appointments with two Ambassadors.
  - PLEASE SECURE THE APPOINTMENTS BEFORE DETERMINING THE CANDIDATES' ITINERARIES AS APPOINTMENT TIMES ARE LIMITED.
  - NOTE: please be sure to follow recruitment expense guidelines. (See f below)
  - Forward two paper copies of the complete dossier to the DOF/VPAA Office including: cover letter, CV, supporting letters, and the itinerary in a manila file folder with the candidate's name and interview date/time on the label.
- e. For candidates considered for contingent appointments:
  - No interview is necessary with the ADOF for one-year appointments.
  - Contact the DOF/VPAA Office to schedule appointments for interviews for multiyear appointments with the ADOF for Personnel, Development, and Diversity (x 5705).
  - PLEASE SECURE THE APPOINTMENTS BEFORE DETERMINING THE CANDIDATE'S ITINERARY AS APPOINTMENT TIMES ARE LIMITED.
  - Forward paper copies of the complete dossier to the DOF/VPAA Office including: cover letter, CV, supporting letters, and the completed itinerary in a manila file folder with the candidate's name and interview date/time on the label.
  - For one-year appointments, if necessary, departments may bring one candidate at a time with prior approval from the ADOF for Personnel, Development, and Diversity.

- No more than two candidates at a time should be invited to campus for multiyear appointments. The ADOF for Personnel, Development, and Diversity approval is required before any visits are scheduled.
- f. It is essential that the candidates feel welcomed and comfortable while on campus.
- g. Please review the travel and entertainment guidelines with respect to the recruiting process: http://cms.skidmore.edu/financial\_services/upload/SKIDMORE-COLLEGE-TRAVEL-POLICY-11-10-3.pdf

5. Interview and Selection

Review legal and illegal questions cited in the resources below

6. Checking References

- a. The Search Committee should develop guidelines for phone references or review of reference letters:
- Identify who makes the calls
  - Determine focus areas for questions
  - Develop questions to learn about past performance
  - Ask the candidate for additional references beyond the list they provide
- b. Reference checks are completed before an offer is made.
- c. Background checks will also be performed.

7. Skidmore Protocol/Guidelines for Making an Offer

- a. Although the DOF/VPAA provides the salary range, the Department Chair conducts the negotiations and makes a final offer. Information regarding financial support for relocation is provided by the DOF/VPAA Office. The timeline for confirmation of the offer by the candidate is determined by the Department Chair but is generally 10 working days. The contract letter is prepared and sent by the DOF/VPAA (or the Associate Dean in case of non-tenure track lines) in consultation with the Department Chair.
- b. Start-up and scholarly support should be negotiated with the DOF/VPAA and needs to be included in the department's Capital Budget request in the year of the search.

9. Guidelines for Use of Research Funds for New Tenure-Track Faculty

Start-up research funding for new tenure-track faculty is allocated through the Capital Budget process to support the development of research and scholarly activities. Generally, this funding is used to support scholarly and research activities so that junior faculty on tenure-track appointments are able to transition successfully from their graduate or postdoctoral research, scholarly or creative work, to productive scholars at Skidmore.

This research support is to be used primarily to fund:

- equipment
- supplies
- laboratory set-up
- student research assistants
- participant studies
- occasional travel associated with disciplinary research

Faculty allocated start-up funding should develop, in consultation with their Chair, a research plan for expending this support during the first three years of their appointment. It is important to note that these funds are part of the Capital Budget, and thus they should be expended within the first three years of the initial appointment. In rare and extraordinary instances where institutional circumstances (lab renovation, etc.) may preclude a faculty member from expending her/his start-up funds in a timely manner, a written request with justification to extend the funds to the fourth year may be made to the DOF/VPAA through the Department Chair.

The processing of the start-up funds occurs under the supervision of the Department Chair. In instances when the faculty member is not directly making the purchases, the Department's administrative support person will work with the faculty member in securing the supplies and equipment. This ensures a rapid turn-around on orders by having expenses directly charged to the Department's budget. The support person has the capability of making the necessary changes on the PASS account to ensure that the proper account number is charged. A monthly spreadsheet should be submitted to Sue Blair in the DOF/VPAA Office so that the most current information can be shared with the Director of Financial Planning and Budgeting.

B. How to Request Hiring Faculty in Contingent Appointments

Non-tenure-track faculty or faculty in contingent appointments, are an important teaching resource at the College, and a number of departments rely on them to adequately deliver their academic program. Regardless, every department, at one time or another, hires non-tenure-track faculty to replace faculty on leave, on phased retirement, personal leaves of absence, or due to enrollment pressures. Historically, non tenure-track faculty hiring responds to departmental or programmatic need. Thus, we presently employ faculty in the following categories:

- Terminal, non-renewable, three-year contracts
- Multiple, terminal, full-time, two-year contracts
- One-year, full-time, renewable contracts
- Part-time, renewable, contracts
- Non-renewable, part-time, contracts

Most faculty on full-time, one-year, non-renewable contracts replace tenured or tenure-track faculty on one-year leaves. It is often the case that departments or programs decide to hire in a contingent position in an area not otherwise represented by the specialization of their permanent faculty. Thus, faculty in contingent appointments open opportunities to broaden and enrich departmental and/or program course offerings.

1. Request for Faculty in Contingent Appointments:

The Chair or Program Director should request approval from the ADOF for Personnel, Development, and Diversity as soon as the need arises. Such need may result from enrollment pressures, prospective leaves, or an unforeseen vacancy of an existing line.

The Chair will need to make a case for each instance including:

- How the position will meet the needs of the program
- How the position will contribute to the College priorities (e.g., interdisciplinary programs, goals of the Strategic Plan, delivery of Scribner Seminars by tenured and tenure-track faculty)
- Enrollment data

Request(s) for full- and part-time appointments should be discussed with the ADOF for Personnel, Development, and Diversity before submitting an ATE. In the case of multiple renewals of part-time faculty, such consultation may be requested by the ADOF for Personnel, Development, and Diversity upon submission of the ATE.

2. Search Guidelines for Faculty in Contingent Appointments:

- a. Depending on the length of appointment, the ADOF for Personnel, Development, and Diversity may request the Department Chair to submit a position description and a search plan (e.g., position description, advertisement copy, timeline for the search, and search process) before approving the ATE.
- b. The Chair and delegated department members will interview all one-year hires. The Chair should consult with the ADOF for Personnel, Development, and Diversity before making an offer. It is not necessary for the ADOF for Personnel, Development, and Diversity to interview candidates for part-time or one-year positions.

- c. In the case of multiple-year appointments, generally no more than two (2) finalists may be invited to on-campus interviews:
  - Contact the DOF/VPAA Office to schedule appointments for interviews with the ADOF for Personnel, Development, and Diversity (x 5705).
  - PLEASE SECURE THE APPOINTMENTS BEFORE DETERMINING THE CANDIDATE'S ITINERARY - APPOINTMENT TIMES ARE LIMITED.
  - Forward paper copies of the complete dossiers to the ADOF Office including: cover letter, CVs, supporting letters, and the itinerary in a manila file folder with the candidates' names and interview dates/times on the label.
- d. The Chair, after consulting with the ADOF for Personnel, Development, and Diversity, will make an offer and negotiate salary with the finalist.

C. Diversity in Hiring: Strategic Considerations<sup>1</sup>

Engaged Liberal Learning: The Plan for Skidmore College 2005-2015 has set forth the College's strategic direction and goals for thirteen years. Goal II of The Plan states that we "will challenge every Skidmore student to develop the intercultural understanding and global awareness necessary to thrive in the complex and increasingly interconnected world of the 21st Century." If we are to achieve this objective, we must, in the words of Gandhi, "be the change we wish to see in the world." That is, we must first develop within and across our community the knowledge and skills that we seek to impart to our students. As one necessary means to achieving this end, we must recreate Skidmore itself as a more diverse, globally conscious academic community – one that is ever more capable of supporting this crucial educational goal. Indeed, the College we envision is one that truly lives up to the commitment in our "Mission Statement" to educate "a diverse population of talented students who are eager to engage actively in the learning process."

Liberal education itself requires the interplay of the broadest possible spectrum of ideas, viewpoints, and perspectives. We enhance the intellectual and cultural vitality of our community when persons of many different backgrounds and viewpoints draw upon distinct personal histories and engage in honest dialog. Diversity, likewise, links directly with creativity: interactions between disparate perspectives frequently strike the intellectual sparks that herald the emergence of a new idea. Attention to difference in background, cultural perspective, life experience, and worldview is, thus, an essential element within the larger framework of Skidmore's most fundamental and longstanding institutional commitments.

In light of these values, each new search and admissions cycle marks a moment of opportunity and possible transformation for the campus community. So as we look to each pool of potential students, faculty members, or other employees, we must reaffirm our commitment to increasing representation from specific targeted populations, especially persons of color, those who bring international perspectives, and other members of under-represented groups. We have begun this work and to-date have achieved a measure of success, but we are not yet where we need to be. Accordingly, we must raise our expectations to increase not just our efforts but our achievements, aggressively employing both our creativity and the best practices we can identify, whether from inside or outside our boundaries.

As a matter of policy, Skidmore College will work actively to increase the diversity of our community. We will address imbalances in both student and employee populations and meet our diversity-related objectives by recruiting the best candidates from as broad a pool as possible. And, as always, we will continue to be guided by our fundamental educational values leading our students to develop robust cognitive abilities, enhanced critical and intercultural skills, and an appreciation of their individual and social responsibilities as citizens of the United States and the world. Meeting these objectives is crucial to our achieving new levels of excellence as one of the nation's premier liberal arts colleges.

D. Legal and Illegal Pre-Employment Inquiries

GUIDE TO LEGAL AND ILLEGAL PRE-EMPLOYMENT INQUIRIES

Introduction

The job interview is an essential component of the hiring process. While the job interview provides the College with an opportunity to assess whether an applicant will be a good fit, asking the wrong question could result in legal liability. Conducting a proper interview is thus imperative to finding the right candidate while avoiding legal liability. This guide is intended to help interviewers avoid discriminatory inquiries during job interviews.

Preparing to interview:

Any interviewer represents the College, and job candidates will perceive any interview encounter as "acceptable college practice". Therefore, as you prepare your interview questions, ask yourself:

- Is the question legal?
- If it is legal, is it appropriate?
- When in doubt, don't ask. Focus on the job-related information.

Please note: Every interaction with the candidate constitutes part of the interview: phone conversations, transport to and from a hotel, meals, walking across campus, etc. Everyone who will have contact with candidates should therefore be made aware of areas of inquiry that are not appropriate or illegal questions that should not be asked.

If a person volunteers information that is not job related, direct the conversation back to job-related topics. Information volunteered by an applicant that is not job-related – especially information about a job applicant's protected status (see below) – should not affect your decision about the applicant's ability to do the job. Refer difficult questions and issues to Human Resources.

Pre-employment Inquiries:

Throughout the interviewing process, it is important for the person(s) conducting the interview to be aware of the anti-discrimination laws with regard to pre-employment inquiries. These laws apply not only to recruitment and hiring, but also to transfers and promotion of employees.

In general, one should avoid any questions that, either directly or indirectly, are likely to elicit information about an applicant's membership in a protected class, including the applicant's race, religion, color, national origin, sex, age, disability, marital status, military status, sexual orientation, genetic predisposition, domestic violence victim status or any other status protected by applicable law. Make sure to ask only questions that are bona fide occupational qualifications—BFOQs—questions directly related to a candidate’s ability to do the job.

The table of “Lawful and Unlawful Pre-Employment Inquiries” consists of questions compiled by the New York State Division of Human Rights and from The Complete Academic Search Manual (Vicker and Royer, 2006).

Note: This list is applicable to any job candidate. Subjects marked by an asterisk (**) refer to inquiries that are particularly relevant for searches for faculty and administrative professional positions.

After hiring, Human Resources can legally obtain the following:

- A birth certificate copy
- Marital status (married or single only)
- Proof of eligibility to work in the United States (as regulated by Federal Law)
- Photographs
- Physical examination and drug testing, if appropriate, or required by position, can be initiated once an offer is made with continuation of employment contingent upon a satisfactory result
- Social Security card
- Background check, if appropriate, or required by position, can be initiated once an offer is made with continuation of employment contingent upon a satisfactory result

F. Authorization to Employ (ATE) Process for Faculty Appointments

This process should be followed for ALL hires. (Contact the DOF/VPAA Office with any questions at x5705)

1. Authorization to Employ (ATE) and Advertisement

All requests for tenure track, multi-year and one-year appointments MUST include a job description and position justification approved by the DOF/VPAA (tenure-track) or the ADOF for Personnel, Development, and Diversity (non tenure-track) BEFORE the ATE process begins.

- a. An ATE must be completed for every new hire and every contract renewal.
- Log onto the PeopleAdmin system via jobs.skidmore.edu/hr OR from the Human Resources webpage <http://cms.skidmore.edu/hr/index.cfm> -click on the Authorization to Employ (ATE) online link.
- Please be sure to complete and to provide all necessary information
  - i. Position Information:
    - A full-time teaching load for tenure-track faculty is a minimum of 18 credit hours for the academic year.
    - A full-time teaching load for non-tenure track appointments is a minimum of 20 credit hours for the academic year.
    - All full-time, visiting appointments with terminal degrees are designated as "visiting" regardless of rank.
    - The title of "Lecturer" applies only to faculty who have not yet completed their terminal degree.
    - Appointments to contingent positions with less than a full-time load will be at the Lecturer level regardless of the terminal degree.
  - ii. Position Status:
    - Generally, all faculty appointments are for nine months.
    - Salaries for faculty who were full-time the previous year and will retain full-time status in their renewal contract, will have their pay spread over the summer months in order to enable them to retain their benefits and receive salary over that period.
    - Salary payments during the summer are considered an advance of salary against the following academic year and will be subject to repayment if employment is terminated during the summer months.

- The second and any subsequent years' salaries will be distributed over 26 pay periods (to include the summer months); thus, payroll checks will appear to be smaller.

iii. Part-time/Temporary Appointments:

- The specific courses must be indicated on the ATE. Credit and/or contact hours must be included.

b. Request for Waiver of a Search

A waiver of a search request must be approved by the Dean of the Faculty's Office and the Assistant Director for EEO and Workforce Diversity. Generally, the waiver may be used only for renewal of contracts.

c. Advertising the Position

- Create the advertisement and attach it to the ATE for review.
- Include a diverse statement to attract a diverse pool.
- Indicate the list of publications that will carry the advertisement and indicate deadlines. Check with the Assistant Director for EEO and Workforce Diversity to ascertain that the advertisement appears in the appropriate venues to attract a diverse pool of candidates.
- The advertisement will be reviewed by the Assistant Director for EEO and Workforce Diversity to ascertain that it is in compliance with federal regulations.
- The Assistant Director for EEO and Workforce Diversity will add the inclusive hiring language to the ad.
- Please remember that, due to cost, the College prefers online to print advertisement. Consult the DOF/VPAA or the ADOF for Personnel, Development, and Diversity should you have questions.

d. Demographic Data Collection

Applicant pool information is necessary for the institution (please consult the Assistant Director for EEO and Workforce Diversity if you have questions regarding this step of the process).

2. Contract Request

Once a candidate has accepted the offer, please complete a Contract Request Form (CRF):

- a. A contract Request Form (CRF) MUST Be Filled Out For EVERY Hire. The Link to CRF: http://cms.skidmore.edu/dof/forms/contract\_form.cfm
- Provide all requested information as accurately as possible.
  - Indicate the appropriate rank of the new hire. If unsure, please contact the DOF/VPAA Office (x 5705) for assistance.

- Include the amounts agreed upon for relocation and/or start-up funds. Please note that relocation allowances cannot be reimbursed until after the new faculty's first payroll is processed.
- Include any special arrangements in the appropriate text area.
- The DOF/VPAA Office will process the contract letter which will go out no later than 18 working days from the date of request. If an expedited letter is required, please request it on the contract request form.

b. The Contract Letter

- The DOF/VPAA Office will email a draft of the contract letter to the Department Chair or Program Director. PLEASE READ IT CAREFULLY before giving final approval to ensure that all agreed-upon terms are included.
- A return date is generally set for two weeks from the date of the contract letter. The DOF/VPAA/ADOF for Personnel, Development, and Diversity will request the chair or director to follow-up with the candidate if s/he has not returned the signed letter by the due date.

PLEASE FEEL FREE AT ANY POINT DURING THE RECRUITMENT/HIRING/CONTRACT PROCESS TO CONTACT THE DEAN OF FACULTY OFFICE FOR ASSISTANCE.

II. Faculty Evaluation

A. Annual Faculty Evaluation Letters

Evaluation Letters for Tenure-Track Faculty and Faculty in Contingent Appointments are due to the DOF/VPAA by August 31:

- "All faculty members have the right to receive from their Department Chairs written evaluations of their performance: annually if non-tenured; every three years if tenured, if Library faculty in more than their sixth consecutive year of continuing service; or more frequently and informally at the individual's request." (Faculty Handbook, Part One, Article VII(A)(2), p. 108)

C. Second and Third Year Reappointment Cases for Tenure Track Faculty

1. Second Year Reappointment Cases

Recommendations for second-year reappointment cases for tenure-track faculty are due by the Department Chair on or before May 31:

“At the end of the appointee’s second year, the department shall determine whether it regards the appointee as a candidate for reappointment according to departmental procedures and the evaluative criteria set forth in Part One, Article VI, Section A, with particular emphasis on teaching effectiveness. The Department shall inform the DOF/VPAA Office of its decision on or before May 31st of that year. In the case of proportional appointments (see Part One, Article V, Section C), each program and/or department involved shall inform the DOF/VPAA of its decision on or before May 31st of that year.” (Faculty Handbook, Part One, Article VIII[A][1][a])

2. Third-Year Reappointment Cases

“An appointee considered by the department to be a candidate for reappointment at the end of the second year will be evaluated in the third year according to departmental procedures. The department must submit its recommendation, positive or negative, with supporting evidence to the office of the Dean of the Faculty on or before January 15th of the appointee’s third year.” (Faculty Handbook, Part One, Article VIII[A][2][a])

3. The process for second- and third-year reappointment cases for tenure-track faculty include:

- a. Letters: Each clearly indicating support or lack thereof.
  - The Chair’s letter makes the case, including statement of departmental or programmatic need.
  - All members in the department in at least their third year write a letter.
  - Program Directors, whenever pertinent, will also write letters.
- b. Student evaluations both dean’s card and departmental long forms: please make sure that all copies of the long forms are legible.

- c. Documentation of professional activity whether scholarly or creative, such as publications, conference papers, tapes, reviews (by or about candidate), slides, etc. The Chair's letter should explain the candidate's professional activity and how it should be or/has been evaluated (e.g., professional status of journals, conferences, galleries, etc.)
- d. Teaching and research or scholarly statements from the candidate are desirable.
- e. Copies of annual and semi-annual summary of activities reports.
- f. List file contents. Copies should be kept by both the chair and the candidate. In the case of additions, all copies of the content list must be updated.

D. Stop tenure clock policy – (See Faculty Handbook, Part 1, Article VIII [D][4])

E. Suggested Guidelines for Writing Letters in Reappointment and Tenure Cases

The Faculty Handbook mandates participation of certain faculty in reappointment and tenure cases. Moreover, other members of the faculty and administration are often invited to provide recommendations to the DOF/VPAA or to the Committee on Appointments, Promotions and Tenure (CAPT). The following extracts from the Faculty Handbook make clear who is required/invited to participate in these personnel cases.

1. Third-Year Reappointment - (See Faculty Handbook, Part I, Article VIII [A][2][a])

An appointee considered by the department to be a candidate for reappointment at the end of the second year will be evaluated in the third year according to department procedures. The department must submit its recommendation, positive or negative, with supporting evidence to the DOF/VPAA on or before January 15 of the appointee's third year. This evidence must include a cover letter from the chair and letters from full-time faculty and those holding shared appointments in the department concerned (in the ranks defined in Part One, Article V [Appointments to the Faculty], Sections A [Tenure-Track Appointments] and E. [Non-Tenure-Track Appointments], and 2b. [Artist- or Writer-in-Residence] who are in at least their third year of full-time service at Skidmore, and (where appropriate) Program Directors.

(Please note the CAPT Calendar to be certain of all dates)

The department must present clear and decisive evidence concerning the individual's professional qualifications and the department's need for the candidate's particular abilities in its projected programs.

2. Tenure. See Faculty Handbook, Part I, Article IX(E)(3)(a)(b)(c) and (d) as follows:

The CAPT has the responsibility of securing information with respect to the candidate's teaching competence, professional accomplishment, and service to the academic community. Sources of this information include:

- a. Full-time faculty and those holding shared appointments in the department concerned (in the ranks defined in Part One [Faculty Rights and Responsibilities], Article V [Appointments to the Faculty], Sections A [Tenure-Track Appointments] and E [Non-Tenure-Track Appointments], number 2b [Artist- or Writer-in-Residence] who are in at least their third year of full-time service at Skidmore.
  - b. Department Chair
  - c. Program Directors (where appropriate).
  - d. Sources suggested by the candidate under consideration including Administrative Officers, the Coordinator or Director of a program, or Chair of a department in case the candidate has taught in an interdisciplinary program or department other than the one in which he or she holds an appointment.
3. Individuals writing letters of evaluation for the candidate shall clearly state whether they do or do not recommend tenure and why, according to the criteria for continued service (as found in Part One, Article VI(A) of the Faculty Handbook.
  4. The Chair, in the letter of evaluation for the candidate, shall clearly state whether the department does or does not recommend for tenure and why, according to the criteria for continued service. Furthermore, the Chair shall clearly state the extent to which a candidate's particular abilities will continue to be needed, as far as the department's future can be projected.
  5. While reappointment letters are directed to the DOF/VPAA, and letters in tenure cases are addressed to the CAPT, there are some general points to consider which may help faculty, and particularly Department Chairs, in writing effective letters.
  6. Letters should help the DOF/VPAA and CAPT to understand the case by explaining the nature of the candidate's teaching, research, and service. Every field has its idiosyncrasies as does every personnel case; moreover, while members of CAPT and the DOF/VPAA have a great deal of experience in evaluating personnel cases, they are unlikely to have specific expertise in the candidate's field, especially since no member of CAPT may deliberate about a case from his or her own department. Therefore, the most useful letters place the candidate's record in the context of his/her field as well as in the context of the work of the department and the college.
  7. Nearly every candidate has both strong and weak points in his or her file. An effective letter offers an honest evaluation of both the candidate's strengths and weaknesses and shows how such an evaluation leads to either a positive or a negative recommendation.

8. The "Evaluative Criteria for Continued Service" (See Faculty Handbook, Part I, Article VI) provides the standards established by the faculty against which all faculty must be measured. But while the Faculty Handbook separates these criteria into the categories of teaching, scholarship, and community service, the work of some candidates may not be so tidily divided. Effective letters help the DOF/VPAA and CAPT understand a candidate's case by demonstrating how a particular file should be read. The most valuable letters will achieve many of the following goals; and will address both the strengths and, equally importantly, the weaknesses of a candidates file.

a. TEACHING. Effective letters will:

- Characterize the candidate's teaching effectiveness. CAPT must rely on departmental letters, student evaluations and material that candidates submit (e.g., syllabi, statement of teaching philosophy, etc.) to gain a sense of a candidate's teaching profile. An assessment of a candidate's teaching, above and beyond a reading of the student evaluations, is a necessary part of the file. Illustrations drawn from peer visits or other assessment tools are extremely important. While numerical summaries from the short forms and excerpted comments from the long forms are sometimes helpful, please bear in mind that each member of CAPT reads every teaching evaluation and that, therefore, such summaries and excerpts should also be supported by interpretation from a departmental perspective.
- Reflect on the role the faculty member has played in the department and the college. Characterize the kinds of courses a candidate has offered. If the candidate has taught mostly lower- or upper-level courses, explain why. Say whether the courses are required or electives, whether they serve the department, the college, or both. Show how the candidate's teaching contributes to the departmental and college curriculum. Has the candidate offered interdisciplinary courses or contributed to the FYE Program? (Where appropriate, the Faculty Handbook mandates that Program Directors and Department Chairs will consult with each other.) Has the candidate designed non-traditional approaches to teaching? Has the candidate made use of the web? What new courses has the candidate developed?
- Reflect on the faculty member's development as a teacher. CAPT is most interested in the trajectory of the candidate's development. What is the long story that course evaluations and peer visits reveal? If the candidate experiences difficulties in some course or courses, account for that. Indeed, account for anything that might strike a stranger's eye as odd or different

b. SCHOLARSHIP. Effective letters will:

- Place the candidate's scholarly, creative, or professional work within the context of the candidate's field. How does the candidate's work contribute to the field? What is distinctive about the discipline that CAPT might need to know in order to evaluate the candidate's work? What is unique to the candidate's professional work that CAPT might not understand (for instance the role of patents, grants, performances, exhibitions etc.).

- Characterize the quality of the journals, presses, professional, or creative outlets where the candidate's work has appeared. Say how the discipline values books or juried articles, museum exhibits or regional concerts. Explain the role the candidate has had in jointly produced work. Explain the significance of being first, second, or nth author/investigator on a particular project or grant.
  - Explain what aspects of the candidate's professional work, if any, might be difficult or impossible for the department to evaluate. To what sources in the file should CAPT, the DOF/VPAA and/or ADOF for Personnel, Development, and Diversity look for an evaluation of this work?
  - Place the candidate's scholarly, creative or professional profile within the context of the candidate's career at Skidmore. Reflect on the advantages and disadvantages of doing a particular kind of work in a small college setting and on the value of the candidate's work to Skidmore. Speak about collaborative research with students. Comment on financial support, facilities, time constraints, released time (including pre-tenure sabbatical), and interdisciplinary work or work with colleagues at other institutions.
- c. SERVICE. Effective letters will:
- Place the candidate's service within the context of his/her career.
  - Characterize the nature and importance of the candidate's service. Point to particular achievements in the department or college and to examples of leadership. Characterize the kinds of service the candidate has done: mostly curricular or mostly administrative; mostly with students or mostly with colleagues. Characterize the candidate's work as an advisor.
  - Bring to light any as yet unacknowledged service to the profession, the department, or the college. Be particularly aware of the kind of service that does not appear on a CV: the ability to move a departmental discussion forward or even to stop it in its tracks; the mentoring of peers or younger colleagues. Be aware, too, that while service on committees is a very important aspect of citizenship, service should not be construed only as committee work.
9. NOTE FOR CHAIRS: The Chair's letter plays an extremely important role in a reappointment or tenure case. This letter should not only respond to the points and questions raised above, but present the department's position on a case. If a department generally agrees about the evaluation of a candidate, the chair must still account for, and attempt to explain, the dissonant voice(s). If a recommendation is genuinely mixed, again, the Chair needs to offer CAPT, the DOF/VPAA a context for understanding the difference in perspectives. Ignoring negative (or positive) voices only provokes more questions for those reading the file. Moreover, ignoring student complaints about teaching, or a thin publication record, or a service category that is all but empty suggests that the Chair thinks that CAPT, or the DOF/VPAA will not notice what the Chair does not point out. On the contrary, CAPT will struggle all the more over a case that has not been comprehensively presented by the Department Chair.

F. Procedures for Evaluation of Program Directors and Faculty assigned to Programs

1. If the candidate is tenure-track or tenured in a department, the Department Chair shall take into account the candidate's contributions to the program in writing the annual (or in the case of tenured faculty, triennial) letter of evaluation. (For tenure-track candidates in a program, see Faculty Handbook, Part One [Faculty Rights and Responsibilities], Article V [Appointments to the Faculty], Section B [Fully Dedicated Tenure-Track Lines in ID Programs].)
2. In all personnel decisions, the Department Chair shall consult in writing with the faculty who have been active in the program during the last two years to gather evidence on the performance of the candidate in the areas of teaching, scholarly, professional or creative activity, and community service.
3. In the case of programs with personnel committees, such as Gender Studies, the Department Chair shall consult the personnel committee. In the case of programs without personnel committees, the candidate's Department Chair shall solicit letters from faculty in the program.
4. The faculty referees shall in all cases indicate in writing clear support or lack of support for the candidate on the basis of his or her work in the program.
5. In a second year review, the Faculty Handbook does not require documentation appended to the Chair's letter. In all other personnel decisions forwarded to the DOF/VPAA and to the CAPT, the Department Chair will attach the written statements of those reviewing the candidate's contributions to the program. Chairs and referees shall ensure that all materials are forwarded to the DOF/VPAA and to the CAPT by the announced deadlines.
6. With the exception of Interdisciplinary Programs which have tenure-track lines, it is the responsibility of the Department Chair to evaluate the candidate's contributions to the program and to refer to it in his/her letter to the DOF/VPAA and/or the CAPT. It is the responsibility of the Director for the ID Program to provide reviews and evaluations to tenure-track faculty in the Program.

G. Overview of Faculty Evaluation

1. First-year evaluation is conducted according to established departmental procedures. The Chair/Program Director will write an annual review letter.
  - a. Second-year review is typically completed in the second semester of the second year, and includes thorough evaluation of:
    - Teaching, including student evaluations (long and short forms), and peer classroom visitation
    - professional work

- service (potential)

Chairs or Program Directors forward written recommendations to the DOF/VPAA.

b. Third-year review is completed at the end of the first semester, and includes thorough evaluation of:

- teaching - student evaluations (long and short forms), and peer classroom visitation
- professional work
- community service

Chairs or Program Directors forward their written recommendation, with letters from Department members attached, to the DOF/VPAA in January. If the DOF/VPAA disagrees, the case goes to CAPT.

c. Fourth year<sup>2</sup>

- annual evaluation letter

d. In the fifth year<sup>2</sup>, tenure review begins and it includes thorough evaluation of:

- teaching - same as third year
- professional work
- community service

e. In the sixth year, the tenure case is concluded and presented to the CAPT in October.

IV. Retirement Process

Normally you will find that faculty or department staff will retire at the end of a semester. While most choose to retire at the end of the spring semester, you may have notification of a fall retirement also. Any non-faculty members in your department may, of course, choose any time of the year to retire.

In order to facilitate a successful transition to retirement, the following guidelines are recommended:

- Ask the faculty or staff member to submit her/his request in writing.
- Forward one copy of the resignation notice to the DOF/VPAA Office and one copy to Human Resources.
- Encourage the faculty member or employee to discuss his/her benefits with Human Resources who will guide her/him through the process of requesting retirement payments, social security, and any other eligible benefits.
- You should be aware that if the faculty member is retiring at the end of the Spring semester, his/her last paycheck could be either in May or June; if it is at the end of fall semester, his/her last paycheck may be at the end of November or beginning of December. Human Resources will be able to indicate the actual date.

V. Phased Employment Guidelines

1. Based on a recommendation from the Department and with concurrence from the DOF/VPAA, a faculty member may elect to participate in the phased retirement program, which can be reviewed at <http://cms.skidmore.edu/hr/policies> for eligibility and benefit coverage information.
2. A department choosing to support a faculty on phased retirement generally will not be permitted to backfill the position until the final year of phased employment. Please carefully consider the curricular needs of your program and determine the potential impact of this retirement option.

Please note that there is no guarantee that a faculty line will return to a department following a retirement or a resignation. Remember that the position request is submitted to the DOF/VPAA and that a justification of need based on programmatic, curricular and institutional goals is necessary for all tenure-track and contingent position requests.

VI. Appointment and Review of Department Chairs

A. Criteria for Appointment. The Appointee:

- Shall normally hold the rank of Associate or Full Professor.
- Should have extensive and successful teaching experience.
- Should have qualities of personal and professional leadership and should have demonstrated evidence of administrative skill.

B. Procedures for Appointment

- a. Appointments of a Department Chair are made by the DOF/VPAA in consultation with the members of the department concerned.
- b. Appointments to the Chair are for two years and are renewable; four to eight years is the normal length of service. A Chair (tenured or untenured) may not be removed as Chair during the course of an academic year except for cause.

C. Procedures for Review

1. Department Chairs shall be reviewed once every four years with an informal interim review at the second year. In the event of an intervening sabbatical or leave of absence, the review will take place in the fifth year. More frequent reviews may take place at the request of the Chair or the DOF/VPAA. Untenured faculty serving as Chairs at the time of review for reappointment or for tenure shall be reviewed separately as Department Chairs.
2. The review of a Department Chair shall be conducted by the DOF/VPAA. Each member of the department will be requested to write an evaluation to the DOF/VPAA. All such statements shall be confidential.
3. Student majors in the department may also be involved in the review of Chairs, and each department will determine the process of student involvement.

D. Obligations Pertaining to Department Chairs

1. LEADERSHIP: The Chair is responsible to the College, to the department, and to the administration for the effective leadership of the department. The Chair is responsible to the department for the effective and accurate representation of its interests and concerns to the administration. Chairs should strive to recruit and maintain faculty who demonstrate excellence both in teaching and professional accomplishment. They should coordinate and stimulate participation in departmental affairs by all faculty and, where appropriate, students, and strive to keep departmental morale high. They should, moreover, maintain sensitivity to the world outside their disciplines and the College, and continually attempt to keep their departments aware of, and responsive to, the larger educational and social contexts in which they function.

2. CURRICULUM: The Chair, in consultation with other department members, is responsible for the department's course offerings and major requirements. To the greatest extent possible, faculty should be permitted to teach the courses they prefer in the areas of their particular expertise, providing that student needs are met. Scheduling of courses and determination of examination policies should reflect the wishes of the department members teaching those courses. The Chair should take into account the needs of the students as well as the discipline in the shaping of the curriculum. The Chair has the primary responsibility for encouraging faculty to advise students conscientiously and carefully and also to keep library and resource materials current.
3. PERSONNEL: The Chair is responsible for seeking out highly qualified candidates for vacancies in the department. An important factor in their selection should be their competence and willingness to teach according to the specified needs of the department and the College. The Chair establishes search and selection procedures in consultation with the DOF/VPAA, the Assistant Director for EEO and Workforce Diversity, Program Directors (where appropriate), and members of the Department. The Chair makes recommendations on appointments (Part One, Article V), reappointments (Part One, Article VIII), promotions (Part One, Article XI), tenure (Part One, Article IX), sabbaticals and leaves (Part One, Article XII), and salary increments to the DOF/VPAA, the Committee on Faculty Development (where appropriate) and the CAPT (where and when required).

The Chair is responsible for coordinating and making equitable the teaching loads of the members of the department according to standards (including those governing course releases) administered by the DOF/VPAA. The Chair renders guidance and assistance to faculty in every way possible. The Chair keeps untenured faculty apprised of their progress through the tenure system through mentoring and annual letters of evaluation. Each year non-tenured faculty meet with their respective Chairs to discuss the content of their annual letters of evaluation. Continuing part-time faculty shall also receive annual letters of evaluation. Tenured members of the department shall normally be evaluated every three years on a schedule determined by the Chair and coordinated with the individual's and the department's sabbatical cycle. The DOF/VPAA shall keep a record of tenured faculty members' evaluation cycles, and remind Department Chairs when evaluations are due. The annual letters of evaluation shall be transmitted to the individuals concerned and a copy will be sent to the DOF/VPAA office no later than August 31st following that academic year. These evaluations are to be kept on file in the individual's department and in the Dean of the Faculty's office. Only the individual, the Chair, and the DOF/VPAA may have access to these evaluations.

4. COMMUNICATION: The Chair should foster effective intra- and inter-departmental communications among students, faculty and administrators, making clear to these constituencies the nature of all departmental policies and procedures. Department meetings should be held regularly, and department members should be informed of discussions at academic staff meetings. The Chair is responsible for keeping the catalogue description of the department current and accurate, and is responsible for the biennial departmental report to the DOF/VPAA.

5. SUPPORT: The Chair shall seek to provide faculty members with adequate office space and working facilities and, in consultation with the DOF/VPAA, shall make necessary budgetary provisions for teaching aids such as films, records, slides, videotapes, software, etc., for duplicating equipment, for field trips, and for proper administrative support and student assistance.

VII. Appointment, Review, and Evaluation of Directors

A. Criteria for Appointment. The appointee:

- Shall normally hold the rank of Associate, or Full Professor in a department.
- Should have extensive and successful teaching experience.
- Should have qualities of personal and professional leadership and should demonstrate evidence of administrative skill.

B. Procedures for Appointment

1. Appointment of a Program Director is made by the DOF/VPAA in consultation with the teaching faculty in the program and (when applicable) the appropriate Department Chair.
2. A Director (tenured or untenured) may not be removed as Director during the course of an academic year except for cause.

C. Procedures for Review

1. Program Directors shall be reviewed by the DOF/VPAA once every four years with an informal interim review. In the event of an intervening sabbatical or leave of absence, the review will take place in the fifth year. More frequent reviews may take place at the request of the DOF/VPAA. Untenured faculty serving as Directors at the time of review for reappointment or for tenure shall be reviewed separately as Program Directors.
2. The review of a Program Director shall be conducted by the DOF/VPAA. Each active member of the program will be requested to present a written evaluation to the DOF/VPAA. All such statements shall be confidential.
3. Student majors in the department may be also involved in the review of Chairs and Program Directors; each department or program will determine the process for student involvement.

D. Obligations Pertaining to Program Directors

1. LEADERSHIP: The Director is responsible to the College, to the program, and to the administration for the effective leadership of the program. The Director is responsible to the program for the effective and accurate representation of its interests and concerns to the administration. Directors should strive to promote, and coordinate faculty

- participation in the program. They should coordinate and stimulate participation in program affairs by all faculty and, where appropriate, students, and strive to keep program morale high. They should, moreover, maintain sensitivity to the world outside their programs and the College, and continually attempt to keep their programs aware of and responsive to the larger educational and social contexts in which they function. Directors should ensure that the interdisciplinary nature of the programs remain central to the mission of the College.
2. CURRICULUM: The Director, in consultation with other program members, is responsible for the program's course offerings and requirements. Directors, in consultation with teaching faculty and Department Chairs, will coordinate the scheduling of courses. The Director should take into account the needs of the students as well as the program in the shaping of the curriculum. The Director has the primary responsibility for advising students in the program and also keeping library and resource materials current.
  3. PERSONNEL: The Director, in consultation with appropriate Department Chairs, is responsible for seeking out highly qualified candidates to teach in the program. The Director renders guidance and assistance to faculty in the program. The Director has access to teaching faculty's curriculum vitae, syllabi and teaching evaluations for courses in the program. The Director consults with the appropriate Department Chair when teaching faculty in the program are eligible for reappointment, tenure, and promotion.
  4. COMMUNICATION: The Director should foster effective intra- and inter-program communications among all students, faculty, and administrators, making clear to these constituencies the nature of all program policies and procedures. The Director is responsible for keeping the catalogue description of the program current and accurate and for the annual program report to the DOF/VPAA.
  5. SUPPORT: The Director, in consultation with the DOF/VPAA and the appropriate Department Chair(s), if relevant, shall make necessary budgetary provisions for teaching aids such as films, records, slides, videotapes, software, etc., for duplicating equipment, for field trips, and for proper secretarial and student assistance.

PART TWO

THE ACADEMIC PROGRAM

I. Guidelines for Department/Program Biennial Reports

Department/Program biennial reports are due to the DOF/VPAA Office by June 30. The report should contain a summary of:

- Opportunities and challenges facing the department or program
- Enrollment patterns and/or pressures and curricular concerns
- Efforts to support the Strategic Plan, as appropriate
- Curricular innovations - both proposed and those in progress
- Personnel changes and/or anticipated changes
- Collective professional accomplishments, service, and activities of faculty, including external grants awarded or submitted, if applicable
- Space innovations/challenges
- Major events, lectures, and/or workshops
- Result of assessment work this year and continued plans for future (included as a separate attachment).

A reminder will be sent by the DOF/VPAA Office to Department Chairs and Program Directors in the beginning of May. Biennial Reports are collected in the DOF/VPAA Office in binders and are read by the Dean/Associate Dean over the summer. Any questions or concerns will be addressed during the summer months.

II. Academic Assessment at Skidmore College

Think of some of the real questions you have about your curriculum and about how well your students are doing: How strong are our students' research skills? Can our students apply what they are learning outside of class? How motivated are our students to learn on their own? If our students can choose from a wide variety of electives, are they leaving our program with the same skills and knowledge, or does what they learn vary greatly from student to student? By the time our students are seniors, are they ready for their final courses or do some seem to have gaps in what they've learned? Do our introductory courses attempt to cover too much? Should we revise the sequence of our courses to enable students to learn more effectively? A good many of our courses are now four credits instead of three—do our students learn more or in greater depth as a result? These questions – and others like them – reflect the real concerns that faculty have about the effectiveness of their curricula. Finding answers to such questions is one of the most important roles for assessment.

A. Annual Assessment Report

The annual assessment report is to be included as a separate attachment to the annual program report to the DOF/VPAA. The components of the report include (1) the learning objectives or goals of the program, (2) the method or methods used to assess each learning objective, (3) how, when, and by whom the results will be analyzed and acted upon, and (4) the results of the most current assessments and curricular changes based upon those results. Assessment plans may evolve from year to year based upon the experiences of the faculty with assessments. For a format of the annual report, go to the Skidmore assessment website: <http://cms.skidmore.edu/assessment/index.cfm>.

B. The Purpose

What do we really want to know about our students? The questions you ask will vary from program to program, whether they deal with students learning specific content, skills or attitudes, or perhaps with issues of student motivation and ability to monitor their own learning. Our assumption is that the key assessment questions are best known by the program faculty themselves, for they are the ones who encounter students on a daily basis, whether in their classes or outside. But finding ways to answer them is key to our success.

Academic assessment seeks to answer the broad question, "What and how well do our students learn what we are attempting to teach them?" As such, academic assessment is not designed to evaluate individual faculty or even individual courses. It is designed to evaluate programs as a whole, such as academic majors, and to determine where the programs might be strengthened in order to improve students' ability to learn. The primary audience for academic assessments is not administrators or accrediting agencies, but, rather, the program faculty themselves.

An assessment program is essentially a way of formalizing the informal discussions, concerns, and questions that faculty have always had about their classes and their students, whether in the hallways, their offices, department meetings, or social gatherings.

Academic assessments work best when they are designed and carried out by the academic faculty themselves, supported as appropriate by the Office of Institutional Research and the Faculty Assessment Coordinator. Therefore, it is essential that all faculty in our programs ask themselves such key questions as, "What should a graduate of our program know, be able to do, and/or value?" and "How do our courses provide students with opportunities to develop their knowledge, skills, and values?" The answers to such questions provide the basis for assessing the program.

In addition to assessments that become part of the fabric of each academic department, the institution assesses student learning in institution-wide contexts. For example, is the core curriculum accomplishing all that we want it to accomplish? Are residential life programs supportive of academic learning? What are the roles of extracurricular activities such as athletics, clubs, and guest speakers or performers? Clearly, the responsibility for assessing academic learning extends beyond the program faculty, for we all know that what students learn while in college results from an accumulation of learning experiences, both formal and informal.

An assessment plan involves more than determining what students should learn and assessing their learning. It requires time to share the results of the assessment with the faculty members and time to reflect upon what those results may imply for individual courses, course sequences, pedagogical practices, and/or student support. Faculty discussions of assessment results may even lead to recommendations for changes to student support structures, such as the library, technology, career placement, or counseling and can provide substantial documentation supporting requests for needed resources. The most important step in any assessment program is the serious discussion by the program's faculty of the results of the assessments and what can be done to improve those results.

C. The Role of the Chair

What is the role of the Department Chair in fostering successful assessment efforts in each department? A list of responsibilities in helping the department develop an assessment plan includes the following:

- Ensuring that all syllabi in the department include the course's goals for student learning in the course. This is a requirement for accreditation. Ideally, these should relate to the department's goals for learning in courses at that level.
- Promoting faculty discussions of the characteristics of students (knowledge, skills, values) that graduates of the program should possess.
- Helping faculty determine how to assess those characteristics, such as deciding which samples of student work best indicate student abilities or how assessments can be built in to the normal work of teaching rather than added on.
- Supporting the work of faculty in conducting the actual assessments.
- Leading faculty discussions of the results of the assessments and the implications for the content and pedagogy of the curriculum.
- Supporting faculty efforts to improve student learning in the program, such as building the courses or assignments that are likely to help students develop those characteristics and meet our high expectations.
- Supporting the writing and dissemination of assessment reports as appropriate.
- Submitting the annual assessment plan and report to the Faculty Assessment Coordinator and the DOF/VPAA.

D. Assessment Methods – A Short Overview

For assessment methods, models, examples from other institutions, and resources such as research reports and a bibliography of current articles and books on assessment, go to Skidmore's assessment website: <http://www.skidmore.edu/administration/assessment/>.

Assessments may be carried out in many different ways, depending upon the depth of information and the nature of what is being assessed. The assessment methods may be categorized as either direct or indirect assessments.

1. Direct assessment methods. Direct assessment methods are "direct" because they look at actual student work to determine whether the students have learned what the faculty want them to learn. Among the direct methods most commonly used are the following:
  - a. Portfolios: Student portfolios may be collected from the time that students enter a program until they graduate or may be collected for narrower time frames. Students are responsible for gathering the information that the faculty want them to gather.

Among the types of materials contained in a portfolio may be research papers, essays, drafts of written material leading to a final product, laboratory research, videotapes of performances, exhibits of creative work, and examinations. A particularly valuable component of student portfolios is the reflective essay, in which the student reflects back upon his or her growth in scholarship or creative efforts and draws conclusions about his or her strengths and weaknesses at the time the portfolio is compiled. To save valuable space, many portfolios are now gathered electronically. The primary drawback of the portfolio is that it takes time for faculty to review. The primary advantage is that it can be designed to represent a broad view of student academic development, one that also contains some depth.

- b. Embedded assessments: Embedded assessments make use of student work produced in specific classes. As a result, the students do not even need to know that their work is being used for assessment purposes. In addition, the material used for assessment is produced within the normal workload of both faculty and students. As such, embedded assessments provide a realistic source of information about student work. In departments that use examinations to evaluate students, sometimes only a few of the examination items are actually designed for assessment purposes. The data provided by embedded assessments should be reviewed by faculty beyond the course instructor, perhaps using a rubric of key characteristics to guide the assessments. The instructor uses the student work to provide grades. The faculty examine the student work to understand what and how students are learning in the program.
- c. Capstone experiences or senior projects: Capstone experiences most often occur in courses taken by students toward the end of their academic program, typically in the senior year. Capstone courses can be designed to require students to demonstrate their accumulated knowledge, skills, and/or values through major creative or research projects, as well as written and oral presentations. The major advantage to the capstone course or experience is that it provides a focused event upon which the assessment can be based. As with embedded assessments, capstone courses make use of data that students produce within the normal course of their work. One caution is that, while the faculty member teaching the course is responsible for giving grades to students, other program faculty should be involved in evaluating the work of the students from an assessment perspective. A drawback to the capstone course is that it cannot hope to encapsulate everything that a student has learned, but assignments can be designed to elicit student work that does include much of what they have learned.
- d. Examinations or standardized tests external to the courses: Culminating examinations may be constructed by the faculty or purchased from national testing organizations (such as the ACT CAAP, ETS field exams, or the Missouri BASE). Constructing such examinations is time-consuming, and standardized national measures may not correlate with your academic program. They are costly to either the institution or the student. And, unless they are required for graduation, student motivation to do well in them may be low.

- e. Internships and other field experiences: Internships and field experiences provide opportunities for students to apply their learning outside the classroom. Evaluations of student work in such experiences may provide valuable information on whether the students are able to use what they have learned in class when they are confronted with “real world” situations. They may, in fact, be the capstone experience for the students’ program.
2. Indirect assessment methods. Indirect assessment methods require that faculty infer actual student abilities, knowledge, and values rather than observe direct evidence, and so they do not provide the best data for making curricular decisions. Among indirect methods are:
- a. Surveys: Student surveys or surveys of employers and others provide impressions from survey respondents. These impressions may change over time (for example, will a senior value the same thing as an alumnus who has been working for several years?). Respondents may respond with what they think those conducting the survey want to hear, rather than what they truly believe. Surveys are easy to administer, but often do not result in responses from everyone surveyed. They may, however, provide clues to what should be assessed directly. And they may be the only way to gather information from alumni, employers, or graduate school faculty.
  - b. Exit interviews and focus groups: Exit interviews and focus groups allow faculty to ask specific questions face-to-face with students. Their limitations are that the students may not respond honestly or fully, while their answers may be, as with surveys, impressions that may change over time. Often, for more objectivity, it may be best to have someone outside the actual program faculty conduct the interviews. Interviews and focus groups may provide clues to what should be assessed directly.
  - c. Inventories of syllabi and assignments: Inventories of syllabi and assignments may turn up information about the curriculum that is not evident until the actual inventory is conducted. As an indirect technique, the inventory does not indicate what students have learned, but it does provide a quick way of knowing whether some courses are redundant in what they teach or whether some gap in the curriculum exists. It is a valuable tool within the total assessment assemblage of tools.

III. Guidelines for Academic Program Reviews:

A. Goals and Process

1. Based on the academic program review schedule in this Handbook, each year the DOF/VPAA and/or ADOF for Personnel, Development, and Diversity will notify those departments scheduled for program review the following year. During the fall semester, the DOF/VPAA or ADOF will notify the chairs or directors of those programs and will request a list of suggested members of external review panels, and a set of issues and mutual concerns to be addressed in the review. In preparing the list of suggested reviewers, chairs and directors should seek well-qualified individuals, preferably from institutions or programs similar to our own and, where possible, from the northeastern United States. Teams will normally consist of three individuals with diverse specializations. Team members will receive a modest honorarium. Following approval of the reviewers by the DOF/VPAA Office, Department Chairs and Program Directors should contact reviewers and set the dates for the visit as early as possible, and no later than early in the fall semester; teams may visit at any convenient time during the year. Copies of the reviewers' CVs should be sent to the DOF/VPAA and ADOF for Personnel, Development, and Diversity.

2. Programs will be asked to provide copies of the following materials to the DOF/VPAA Office for the external reviewers:
  - The departmental or program mission statement (which should include its relationship to all-college curricular and co-curricular programs), and its goals for student learning, both for majors and non majors.
  - A roster of the department (including administrative assistants) and a curriculum vitae of each faculty member of the department or program.
  - The most recent department or program annual report, including recent enrollment data and information regarding assessment of student learning.
  - Any special publications of the program, e.g., admissions brochures, newsletters, etc.

3. Programs will complete the self-study to be sent to the DOF/VPAA and the ADOF for Personnel, Development, and Diversity for review at least four weeks prior to forwarding it to the external evaluators. Reviewers should receive the self-study no later than two weeks prior to their visit. The self-study should address the following areas or questions:
  - What are the program's current strengths?
  - What are the program's current weaknesses?
  - A description and analysis of the program's curricular changes in the last three to five years.
  - What changes in the program's curriculum are being proposed for the next year and/or are under consideration for the next three to five years?
  - Where might some savings in spending be realized, or what resources might be reallocated? What would be the justification for allocation of resources?
  - How is student learning in the program being assessed? What has been the impact of assessment on the faculty's thinking about the program: curriculum, advising, events, facilities?
  - How do the department's programs (majors, minors, curriculum in general) contribute to the College's Goals for Student Learning and Development? How are these outcomes assessed?
  - What are the program's current and foreseeable needs in staff, equipment, or other support?

- If the program supports a major and/or a minor, what are the goals of that degree program and how are they met by the course requirements currently in effect?
  - How does the program track its graduates after they leave the college?
  - What are the career trajectories or educational attainment of majors and minors over the last ten years?
  - What is the program's relationship to the various all-college programs (e.g., Asian Studies, Environmental Studies, First-Year Experience, and Gender Studies) and requirements (e.g. Cultural-Centered Inquiry, Writing, and Quantitative Reasoning)?
  - What would you like to see happening in the program five years from now? Ten years?
  - Other issues identified by the program and the administration in their preliminary discussions.
4. Departments and Programs will provide the DOF/VPAA and the ADOF for Personnel, Development, and Diversity with the arrival and departure schedules for visiting team members. They will set up their itineraries, which will include meetings with all program personnel, appropriate groups of students, and a tour of the facilities. The itinerary will include an initial meeting with the DOF/VPAA and ADOF for Personnel, Development, and Diversity, meetings with department or program members, and at least one meeting with an academic leaders (Chair, Program Director) from outside the department/program being reviewed. It will also include time for team members to discuss, by themselves, their preliminary reactions to what they have learned from their visit. Review teams will submit written reports to the DOF/VPAA and ADOF for Personnel, Development, and Diversity within 30 days of their campus visit. Skidmore will reimburse reviewers for travel, meals, and other incidental expenses incurred during their visit. If reviewers choose to drive, they must keep track of mileage. The College will pay an honorarium of $700 to each member of the team and an additional $300 for the team member writing the final report, who will be selected by the reviewing team. All honoraria will be paid promptly upon receipt of the final report.
5. After the report is submitted, the DOF/VPAA and ADOF for Personnel, Development, and Diversity will forward a copy to the Department Chair or Program Director, who will share it with the members of the department or program. The Chair or Program Director will submit a written response to the report to the DOF/VPAA and ADOF for Personnel, Development, and Diversity. The DOF/VPAA and the ADOF will also share the report with other members of the administration and will then meet with the Chair or Director of the program to discuss both the reviewers' report and the department's or program's response, to consider any recommendations for action. One year following the receipt of the evaluators' report, the DOF/VPAA and ADOF will meet again with the Chair or Director (and with other members of the department or program if necessary) to review what has been accomplished.

B. Review Timeline and Details

1. Beginning of the semester of the review:

- The DOF/VPAA approves the list of reviewers recommended by the department or program.
- The Department Chair or Program Director contacts the DOF/VPAA Office to identify potential dates. Dates are determined by the availability of the DOF/VPAA and the ADOF for Personnel, Development, and Diversity.
- Once the dates are determined, the DOF/VPAA Office will issue a letter to the reviewers stating the date, honoraria, and other information concerning their visit to Skidmore. The Faculty Handbook, course catalog, and other pertinent institutional information are also included with the above letter to reviewers.
- The support staff for the department or program under review makes all travel arrangements, reimbursements and payment of honoraria to the reviewers.

2. Four to Six Weeks Before the Review:

- The self-study is completed for review by the DOF/VPAA and the ADOF for Personnel, Development, and Diversity. The DOF/VPAA and ADOF for Personnel, Development, and Diversity will work with the Department Chair or Program Director if any revisions are necessary.

3. Three to Four Weeks Before the Review:

- The Department Chair/Program Director, creates an itinerary which requires approval by the DOF/VPAA Office.

4. Two Weeks Before the Review:

- Self-study mailed to the reviewers by the Department Chair or Program Director.
- The Department or Program submits one copy of the self-study to the DOF/VPAA.

5. One Week Before the Review:

- The itinerary is sent via e-mail attachment to the reviewers. Subsequent changes after the itinerary is sent should be included in a revised itinerary and given to the DOF/VPAA Office and to the reviewers upon their arrival.

IV. Guidelines for the Retention of Files in Department Offices

Departments or faculty should retain the following documents for the time periods specified below:

V. The Curriculum

A Guide to the College Curriculum Committee

Prepared by the 1983-84 Curriculum Committee
Revised and updated by the 1984-85, 1989-90, 1991-92, 1993-94, 1996-97, 2000-01, 2002-03, 2004-05
Curriculum Committees.
Current version revised 12/13/04.

MEMBERSHIP 2013-14: Shirley Smith, (Foreign Languages & Literatures), Michael Eckmann (Mathematics & Computer Science), Sylvia McDevitt (Biology), Kenji Tierney (Anthropology), T.H. Reynolds (Health and Exercise Sciences), Aiwu Zhao (Management and Business), Patricia Rubio (Associate Dean of the Faculty for Personnel, Development and Diversity), Corey Freeman-Gallant (Associate Dean of Academic Policy and Advising), Dave DeConno (Registrar), Sharon Clemmey (Registrar)

All departments proposing curricular changes must submit those proposals to the College Curriculum Committee for approval. An outline of considerations and procedures is listed below. If you have further questions, please consult with the ADOF for Personnel, Development, and Diversity and/or the Chair of the Committee.

The Committee Chair brings all proposals to the committee for appropriate action. The Chair is elected from the faculty members on the Committee and serves an academic year term.

A. Curriculum Changes requiring Committee Approval: All items contained in the Skidmore College Catalog fall within the purview of the committee, with the exception of staffing considerations, such as listings of departmental personnel, the professor assigned to teach a course, and the specific term in which the course is to be taught. The following changes must receive committee approval:

1. New course proposals or substantial revision to an existing course. New courses include courses that were previously taught as topics courses in a department or program and are now being proposed as permanent courses with course descriptions appearing in the catalog. New courses also include courses that were previously taught but have since been deleted from the catalog. New course proposals should acquaint the committee members with the topics and student learning objectives of the course. To aid committee members in their review of the course, you must submit a syllabus, a course prospectus, an outline of student learning objectives, and a thorough description of course topics, readings, and requirements.
2. Changes in the status of existing courses:
  - a. Deletion of a course from the catalog. Chairs should note that except in unusual circumstances, courses that have not been taught in the last three years should be submitted for deletion from the catalog.
  - b. Changes in:
    - Course description
    - Course level
    - Prerequisite(s)
    - Semester hours credit
    - Requirements met
3. Establishment and elimination of majors and minors. Even after approval by the committee, the Faculty, and the Trustees, such changes may not take effect until they have been registered by the New York State Education Department.
4. Changes in major and minor requirements.
5. Descriptive text of the Department including: mission, goals, descriptions of major and minor, and descriptions of requirements for honors.
6. All other proposed changes in Catalog copy.

B. General Considerations. Before initiating a curricular change, you may want to consider the following:

1. How does the proposed change affect the remainder of your program? How might it affect other departments and programs? How might the addition or deletion of a prerequisite affect current enrollment patterns in the course? Would the deletion of a course from your program prevent some students from completing a major or minor requirement?
2. In cases where there might be significant overlap in content between a proposed course and an existing course (whether in your department or in another department or program), chairs are requested to consult with the head of other departments and programs (where appropriate) and provide an explanation to the Committee indicating the nature of the differences and similarities.
3. How does the proposed course change affect staffing? For example: can new courses be adequately staffed in the future given the size of your department and current faculty loads? Will your proposal have an impact on staffing in another department (e.g., the deletion or addition of a prerequisite course outside your own department), or an impact on your department's staff involvement with all-college requirements? All such matters should be discussed with the ADOF for Personnel.
4. The Committee is charged with reviewing the academic coherence of individual majors, minors, and concentrations, and their relationship to other programs within the College. This should be a central concern for departments and programs proposing course and program changes.

C. Procedures

1. The Committee has created several forms for processing curricular revisions. These forms (in Word format) can be downloaded directly below [scrolling further in this document will present you with example forms and links to additional information]:
  - Propose a New Course or Substantial Revision of an Existing Course (<http://www.skidmore.edu/academics/curric/newcourse-v7.doc>)
  - Propose a Scribner Seminar – either as a New Course or Revision of an existing course (http://cms.skidmore.edu/curriculum\_committee/forms/index.cfm). (See Scribner Seminar Guidelines and Resources [<http://www.skidmore.edu/academics/curric/ccallcollcurric.htm>])
  - Request Routine Revisions (Request Routine Revisions)
  - Propose Revisions to Major/Minor/Programs (also use for new majors) (<http://www.skidmore.edu/academics/curric/major-v2.doc>)
  - Establish or Eliminate a Major (<http://www.skidmore.edu/academics/curric/XVIII.pdf>) (from Faculty Handbook)
  - Sample Syllabus with Learning Goals (<http://www.skidmore.edu/academics/curric/BI360.pdf>) (for further information please see Assessment Handbook [<http://cms.skidmore.edu/assessment/Handbook/index.cfm>])

2. The forms should be submitted with the appropriate signature from the Department Chair and/or Interdisciplinary Program Director (even when proposing a First-Year Seminar or other interdisciplinary courses). If the proposed changes affect more than one department or program (such as interdepartmental majors), obtain signatures of all Chairs and/or Directors involved. If your proposal involves a substantial or complicated change, you should consult with the ADOF for Personnel, Development, and Diversity and/or the Chair of the Committee on an informal basis before submitting your proposal.
3. Depending on the Committee's workload, requests may take from one to three weeks to process. In the case of the important deadlines listed below, please submit proposals at least three weeks in advance of the deadline.
  - a. Routine course revisions (e.g., change in Liberal Arts credit, change in title, decrease in prerequisites, deletion of a course) should be submitted on the appropriate form, with the copy going to the ADOF for Personnel, Development, and Diversity. After an administrative review, the Associate Dean will forward the proposal to the Chair of Curriculum Committee. Routine revisions are handled in an expedited fashion by the Chair, and may not involve committee discussion. Such revisions will be considered approved when signed by both the ADOF for Personnel, Development, and Diversity and the Chair of the Curriculum Committee.
  - b. New courses or substantial revisions to existing courses (e.g., change in course description, change in course level/number, change in semester hours of credit, change in all-college requirements designation, change in enrollment cap, increase in prerequisites) should be submitted on the appropriate form, with the copy going to the ADOF for Personnel. After an administrative review, the Associate Dean will forward the proposal to the Chair of Curriculum Committee, who will then bring the proposal before the committee. If the course is a First-Year Seminar, then the proposal must have the signature of the Director of the First-Year Experience before submitting it to the ADOF for Personnel, Development, and Diversity. If the course is to contribute to an Interdisciplinary Program, then the proposal must be submitted to the Program Director for review before consideration by the ADOF for Personnel, Development, and Diversity. Consult the appropriate Program Director for submission deadlines. The Chair of the Curriculum Committee, in consultation with the ADOF for Personnel, will place the proposal before the committee as soon as possible. New courses and substantial revisions to existing courses will be considered approved when signed by both the ADOF for Personnel, Development, and Diversity and the Chair of the Curriculum Committee. The signature of the ADOF for Personnel, Development, and Diversity indicates that the ADOF and the Department Chair have reviewed the proposal for scheduling, budgeting, staffing, and space considerations.
  - c. Revisions to majors, minors, or programs should be submitted to the ADOF for Personnel, Development, and Diversity. After an administrative review, the ADOF will forward the proposal to the Chair of Curriculum Committee, who will then bring the proposal before the committee.

D. Deadlines

1. Although changes may be proposed at any time during the academic year, there are three very important deadlines:
  - a. Any changes to appear in the Spring schedule of classes must reach the Committee no later than September 15 of the preceding academic term.
  - b. Spring term new course proposals must also reach the Committee by September 15.
  - c. All changes in the Catalog, including changes for the Fall schedule of classes, must reach the Committee no later than December of the preceding academic year.
  - d. If the course is to contribute to an Interdisciplinary Program, then the proposal must be submitted to the Program Director for review before consideration by the ADOF for Personnel, Development, and Diversity. Consult the appropriate director for submission deadlines.
2. Major department changes should be submitted to the Committee as early as possible. Except in the most extraordinary of circumstances, the Committee cannot give immediate attention to proposals that are received after the deadline.

E. Supplemental Information About Forms

During 2000-2001, Curriculum Committee adopted a more liberal interpretation of the qualifications for Liberal Arts credit. Courses that do not now count as Liberal Arts, but which expose students to theoretical issues, may now be considered for Liberal Arts credit.

In order to expedite processing of proposals, and to provide the Chair of the Committee with a clearer sense of upcoming proposals, proposals need to be submitted to the Chair of Curriculum Committee at the same time as they are submitted to the ADOF for Personnel, Development, and Diversity. Generally speaking, however, the committee will defer consideration of a proposal until the ADOF for Personnel, Development, and Diversity has explored the resource implications of the proposal and signed the proposal form.

Recently, the typical change in semester hours of credit has been from 3 to 4 hours. The additional hour can be provided by a contact hour or by a flexible credit hour (which typically receives greater scrutiny from the committee). You should review the guidelines for the additional hours (<http://www.skidmore.edu/academics/curric/flex4.htm>). To clarify the nature of such curricular change, please submit a description of student learning objectives and how they will be assessed.

You should review guidelines for enrollment caps at: (<http://www.skidmore.edu/academics/curric/MaxCaps.htm>). With the advent of reconfiguration, course enrollment caps need to adhere to the guidelines. Only under extremely unusual circumstances will the committee approve an enrollment cap below those specified in the guidelines.

Please indicate the course level by IXX, 2XX, or 3XX. Specific numbers will be assigned by the Registrar. You can request a particular number, but the Registrar makes the final decision about numbering.

The catalog description should be carefully worded to reflect the actual content of the course. It is customary to begin the description with a sentence fragment. Please avoid passive voice, especially regarding student involvement. Also, avoid using such phrases as "in-depth" and "intense" or "this course will carefully analyze and extensively research" which add nothing substantive to the description. Please try to keep your description brief. Consult the Skidmore College Guide to Writing http://www.skidmore.edu/academics/english/ENGLISH\_DEPT\_HP/WG/WGFRAMES.html for stylistic clarification. Consult the current Catalog for examples.

Please take care with the abbreviated title. This is the course title that will appear on registration materials and on transcripts.

The course syllabus is an extremely useful document to the Curriculum Committee. It provides the committee with invaluable detail about the organizational structure of the course. To aid you in the preparation of your proposal, please consult the student learning objectives in the assessment webpage, which also includes a guide to writing student learning objectives.

These questions are all intended to elicit information that will allow the ADOF for Personnel, Development, and Diversity and the Curriculum Committee to assess the resource implications of the new course. For example, if the instructor is currently teaching a full load of courses and is proposing a new course, it is essential for the committee to know which course is being replaced by the new course. Will the replaced course no longer be offered? Will the deletion of the course, or a reduction in the frequency with which it will be offered, have an impact on majors or on a particular program area? If the new course will require, for example, the addition of resources to the Library, such information is also quite useful.

Even if the proposal is for a course outside of the proposer's department (e.g., FYE Scribner Seminars), the Chair of the department in which the proposer resides must sign the proposal.

The Major/Minor/Program form is deceptively simple. However, the creation of a new major, minor, or program is a laborious process. The potential resource implications are significant, so the ADOF for Personnel, Development, and Diversity will need to work closely with the people proposing the new major, minor, or program. Revisions to existing majors, minors, and programs may also have resource implications, so they will also be reviewed carefully by the Associate Dean before bringing the proposal to the Curriculum Committee.

F. CEPP- Curriculum Committee Statement on Maximum Caps (Draft of 3/27/10)

Following discussion by members of Academic Staff, CEPP and Curriculum Committee met three times to discuss a series of issues surrounding the establishment of maximum caps for courses at all levels of the curriculum. The following questions were central to our discussions:

- Should there be a college standard for maximum caps?
- Where should the responsibility to set maximum caps for courses reside?

- How should we determine caps appropriate to the 100-, 200— and 300-level?

The following summarizes the joint committee’s major conclusions and recommendations on each of these issues. A more detailed presentation of these discussions can be found in the minutes of two of the three joint meetings, which are posted at <http://www.skidmore.edu/academics/curric/>.

1. Equity concerns dictate that there should be a college standard for maximum caps, but the standards need to accommodate differences in pedagogy and support facilities. Therefore, the ranges for caps recommended below may not apply to courses whose caps are currently constrained by such considerations (e.g., science labs, expository writing courses, Scribner Seminars, studio arts, etc.)
2. The responsibility for establishing and maintaining maximum caps rests jointly with the faculty and the DOF/VPAA Office. The establishment of caps combines issues of faculty workload (administered by the DOF/VPAA) with curricular policy (the purview of the faculty).
3. The three factors most central to decisions about enrollment caps for courses include the demands of various pedagogical strategies, efficient use of teaching resources to meet student demand and workload equity across departments and programs. In light of current practice across departments, and in an attempt to accommodate pedagogies most common to 100-, 200- and 300-level courses (see Curriculum Committee Class Level Definitions at same web address cited above), the following caps are recommended:
  - 100 level: 32-38
  - 200 level: 27-33
  - 300 level: 18-23
4. Given the specialized curricular role of colloquia designed as capstone experiences in the majors, these courses may be offered at a lower cap of 15.
5. In the interests of efficient use of teaching resources, the joint committees recommend that departments designate specific caps within these ranges and are encouraged to err toward the upper end of the ranges where possible

The joint committee recommends that maximum caps on courses be reviewed by the DOF/VPAA Office as each semester’s course schedule is planned. Faculty will also propose a maximum cap for each new course reviewed by Curriculum Committee. Should a faculty member wish to propose a cap that deviates from college standards, the proposal will be jointly reviewed by the DOF/VPAA and the Curriculum Committee.

VI. Faculty Response to Student Integrity Problems

- Establish your own integrity expectations clearly and positively as part of the intellectual process and content of each course. See the link below for “The Ethics of Scholarship” for suggestions (provided by the Office of Academic Advising).
- Explicitly address grade penalties for violations of the academic honor code on your syllabus, especially if these penalties lie outside the Definitions and Guidelines document published by the Office of Academic Advising and provided to students when they first enter Skidmore (see link below). For example, some faculty adhere to a “zero tolerance” policy on plagiarism that results in a failing grade regardless of the severity of the offense. Students should be alerted to the existence of such a policy before it is applied.
- For help with suspected plagiarisms, consult the search engines and other materials gathered on the Scribner Library website (see link below).
- If you believe you are facing a case of student academic dishonesty, consult the Definitions and Guidelines document, gather the evidence carefully, and then consult with the Office of Academic Advising.
- Talk privately with the student about your suspicions or certainty, trying to treat the issue in a relatively dispassionate and objective manner. Try not to be impressed or swayed by initial student anger, denial, tears, or special pleading; rather, address the evidence, the problem, and the expectations of the Honor Code. (This advice stems from backlash problems encountered when a faculty member becomes too personally and morally connected to the student’s integrity violation.) Keep a written record of your interactions with the student.
- If you decide to respond directly to the infraction, please work within Skidmore’s integrity definitions and penalty guidelines or adhere to the guidelines you establish on your syllabus when assigning a grade. Note that violations of the academic honor code may also impact the student’s eligibility for academic honors and distinctions, study abroad, etc. and will be reported to external agencies as appropriate. These consequences of an infraction are described in the Sanctions and Further Impacts document published by the Office of Academic Advising and made available to students in the Student Handbook (see link below).

- G. Report in writing to the Office of Academic Advising, all demonstrable academic integrity infractions together with your response thereto. (Note that Skidmore faculty have committed themselves to full reporting in the Faculty Handbook and through subsequent faculty legislation of 1995 and 2000.) Also supply a copy of the academic materials in question and, for a case of plagiarism, a copy of the source or sources. Failure to report an infraction may help hide a recurrent pattern and also results in unequal justice.
- H. Once the infraction has been reported to the Office of Academic Advising, you may choose to direct all further queries from the student to the ADOF for Academic Policy and Advising. Regardless of whether you continue to discuss the charges with the student, do not address the academic integrity violation with the student's parents. The infraction is protected under FERPA, and any discussion with the student's parents not only violates the student's FERPA rights, but risks complicating the case with incomplete or inaccurate information on the college's judicial process. Direct parents to the ADOF for Academic Policy and Advising.
- I. You may prefer to request an Integrity Board hearing. Consult with the Office of Academic Advising on this process and refer to links provided below. Note that a student who denies his or her guilt may also request a formal hearing. No action of the Integrity Board may set aside or modify a grade that you have assigned. Further, if the integrity charge is sustained, the Integrity Board may not set aside the reporting and eligibility consequences of an infraction described in the Sanctions and Further Impacts document.
- J. If the reported infraction turns out to be a second offense, the ADOF for Academic Policy and Advising is likely to call for a formal hearing to consider the larger picture, in which case the faculty involved in each infraction will be asked to participate, in effect, as a "witness." Note that 95 percent of reported infractions are single offenses and are resolved as the individual faculty member intended and without a hearing being requested or required.

PART THREE

TRAVEL AND ENTERTAINMENT POLICY

The Skidmore College Travel and Entertainment Policies can be found online at http://cms.skidmore.edu/financial\_services/upload/SKIDMORE-COLLEGE-TRAVEL-POLICY-August-2009.pdf Effective January 1, 2009

I. Purpose

These policies are intended as a guide to reimburse individuals for College-related travel and entertainment expenses. The responsibility to observe the guidelines rests both with the traveler and the chairperson or administrator who certifies conformance to these guidelines by approving the expenditure(s). This policy applies to anyone who incurs travel or entertainment expenses paid by Skidmore College, regardless of the source of funds. The College will reimburse for reasonable travel, meals, lodging and out-of-pocket expenses incurred in the transaction of College business. This document outlines policies and procedures in general terms to allow reasonable discretion for travelers. Departments may implement more restrictive policies and procedures that departmental personnel should adhere to. The policy is not expected to cover every possible situation. Federally funded awards may have additional requirements.

II. Responsibility

These policies and procedures are also necessary to comply with Federal tax law and third party sponsoring agency regulations. They will ensure consistent and fair treatment between departments throughout the College and the uniform reporting of financial results. In general, the quality of travel, accommodations, entertainment and related expenses should be governed by what is reasonable and appropriate to the purpose involved. The College respects the personal integrity and discretion of each member of its faculty and staff and conducts expense account affairs accordingly. Skidmore's travel meets the IRS definition of an "accountable plan." As a result, travel reimbursements do not have to be reported as income to the traveler. Under the accountable plan, travel advances and reimbursement of expenses must meet four requirements:

- They must have paid or incurred deductible expenses while performing services as your employees.
- Travelers must provide a statement substantiating the amount, time, use and business purpose of expenses within a reasonable amount of time (not to exceed 60 days) after the expenses are incurred. Original detailed receipts must be attached to the statement.
- Employees must return any advance amounts in excess of substantiated expenses within a reasonable period of time (not to exceed 60 days).
- If an employee does not substantiate expenses and/or return any excess advance within a reasonable period of time (60 days), this amount must be treated as if it were paid under a non-accountable plan and must be treated as salary, subject to withholding, on the employee's Form W-2.

In order for business travel expense reimbursements to remain tax-free to the employee, the policies and procedures that follow must be adhered to.

III. Skidmore College Travel Policy

A. Costs. The most cost-effective mode of travel should be used based on itinerary:

1. Air Travel

- Southwest Airlines is the preferred airline.
- Appropriate for travel beyond a 200-mile radius from campus. Arrangements should be made through the Skidmore travel on-line website at (<http://www.skidmore.edu/administration/travel>) with your corporate visa card, not your departmental purchasing card (We encourage use of the corporate card because the College receives a rebate based on the total volume of the card usage).
- If you find a more economical flight outside of the Skidmore Travel website, please book it and forward a copy of the itinerary to the Purchasing office to be logged into our travel database.
- Coach travel only (otherwise individual covers incremental cost).
- Personal excess baggage charges, flight insurance, etc. are not reimbursed. The College is not responsible for costs associated with lost luggage (In extenuating circumstances, please discuss with your Supervisor or Chair).
- Credit card bill is mandatory for airline ticket reimbursement prior to trip.

2. Train Travel

- Encouraged when cost effective, especially to New York City.
- Recommend arrangements to be made through Skidmore travel website. Contact AAA Northway if assistance is needed.
- Coach travel only (otherwise individual covers incremental cost).

3. Personal Automobile

When employees use their own vehicle on authorized College business, it is their personal insurance policy that is primary coverage for liability and physical damage coverage. It is important that the individual have adequate coverage, as Skidmore's insurance provides non-ownership liability for exposure to the College only (this means the insurance covers only the College in the event of a lawsuit). Appropriate for travel within a 200-mile radius of campus. Reimbursed at 56.5 cents per business mile for as of January 01, 2013 (adjusted annually per IRS guidelines).

- Maximum reimbursement for mileage is 400 miles round trip.
- Tolls and parking fees reimbursed at actual cost.
- Gas, oil, repairs, maintenance, fines, etc. are not reimbursed.
- The College will reimburse personal insurance deductible for damages sustained while on business when employee is not at fault (police report required).

4. Automobile Rental

The College's insurance provides for both liability and physical damage for employees who rent vehicles while on authorized College business. The coverage extends for car rentals in the US, Canada, Puerto Rico and US territories (therefore please waive the rental agency's insurance coverage). For vehicles rented in a foreign country, the College's international policy covers liability only, and therefore, you must secure physical damage coverage from the rental agency. If any rental vehicle will be in your custody for a period in excess of 30 days, please notify Business Services. Employee's personal effects, while within the vehicle, are not covered by College insurance unless the vehicle is no more than 1,000 feet from campus (limit of $25,000). If a loss or damage occurs to your personal property outside of this radius, please submit the loss directly to your homeowners/renters insurance.

- Local rental appropriate only when cost effective.
- Recommend arrangements to be made through AAA Northway.
- Luxury vehicles not allowed.
- Collision damage coverage is not reimbursed.
- Return car with full gas tank. Refueling charges by the rental agency are not normally reimbursed.

B. Motor Vehicle Policy

1. All full time, part time and temporary employees, including students, work-study students and interns, who may be authorized to drive College owned, leased or rented motor vehicles must:
  - Possess a current valid US driver's license and be at least 18 years of age. Note: if a rental or leased vehicle will be used, compliance with that Agency's age requirements is required.
  - Apply for College motor vehicle driving privileges using the "Driver Authorization Application" (and any other required forms) and be accepted in accordance with the College's MVR Standard listed in section IV.
  - Agree to operate College motor vehicles in accordance with applicable local, state and federal laws and College's regulations, at all times. (This agreement is found on the bottom portion of the Application for Driver Authorization, and must be signed by the driver prior to the time eligibility is conferred).
  - Wear seat belts, when provided in a motor vehicle, and ensure that any passengers do as well.
  - Operate vehicle in the performance of officially authorized College business only, unless otherwise designated.
  - Understand that smoking is prohibited at all times in College vehicles (owned, leased or rented).
  - Understand the payment of all driver related traffic violations and citations will be the sole responsibility of the driver.
  - Report any change in license status (e.g., convictions, if your license has been suspended or revoked) to Business Services, x 5812, immediately.

2. Renewal of Driving Privileges for subsequent academic years, can be obtained by the authorizing department/individual contacting Business Services (518-580-5812) and requesting a renewal (i.e. forms previously completed will be reactivated). Notification of approval/denial will be forwarded within 4 business days.
3. Driver authorization applications. A copy of the driver authorization application is attached.

Departments: Please return this form with a copy of the applicant's driver's license to the Office of Business Services.
