Arts Administration Program

SEE-Beyond Resource Guide

About the Program
The SEE-Beyond Award provides selected students with a grant of $4,000 for a unique experiential learning opportunity. Funds may be used at the student’s discretion to cover participation fees, tuition, travel expenses, room/board and other costs. The Arts Administration Program will support one application each year into the College-wide award competition.

Expectations
Students interested in preparing a SEE-Beyond proposal for consideration within the Arts Administration Program must meet with Prof. Howson to discuss their idea well in advance of the application deadline. Following the initial meeting, the student should prepare a brief justification for their proposal that specifies the following:

• The scope of the opportunity/experience
• The learning goals of the opportunity/experience
• The connection between classroom and practice
• The application of prior study to the experiential opportunity
• The interdisciplinary focus
• The duration of the opportunity/experience
• A Budget of expenses and support for the opportunity/experience
• Any necessary preparation for the opportunity/experience
• Dates and deadlines for third-party application, if applicable

The faculty of the Arts Administration Program will evaluate all completed proposals and select one to advance to the College-wide round. The faculty reserve the right to not forward any proposals to the College-wide round should none be found suitable.

Potential Opportunities
Opportunities for a SEE-Beyond experience are limitless and should be tailored to the interest of the student. Students are encouraged to think beyond the normal internship or summer study. A SEE-Beyond experience should stretch the student’s capacity for learning in unique ways and may need to be created instead of applied for through normal channels. The first step should be consultation with a faculty member in the Arts Administration Program to help provide shape and direction.

Criteria
In order to apply for a SEE-Beyond Award through the Arts Administration Program, the student must have declared a minor in Arts Administration (or self-determined major with a focus in Arts Administration), have completed or have as “in-progress” AA 201 and AA 221.
