Scribe: Mahesh Shankar

Meeting started at 2:32pm

1. Minutes from prior meeting approved.
2. Thanksgiving remote learning discussion
 - a. The committee noted their thanks to Nick Junkerman for drafting email initiating discussion of Thanksgiving remote learning discussion.
 - b. Committee discussed and made edits to the draft email to Chairs/Program Directors, including expanding on both why the two day period prior to Thanksgiving is problematic, as well as why the remote learning mechanism might be the only viable solution.
 - c. Committee also discussed whether remote learning should be presented as an option in the draft email, or as mandatory.
 - d. Committee also discussed whether the proposal should be taken to the faculty floor for discussion; most members agreed that more work needs to be done on this prior to any discussion on the faculty floor. Committee also discussed whether the proposal will eventually be need to be taken to the faculty floor for ratification.
3. Chair introduced FYE student training documents on academic integrity shared by Corey Freeman-Gallant, as potential models for the CEPP training document for student rating forms.
4. Bob Turner suggested topic of policy with regard to student extension requests as a potential discussion that CEPP could initiate on the faculty floor.

Meeting concluded at 3:32pm.
