Bio

Joshua Feldman (b. 2004) is a New York based composer, French horn player and music educator. He is a graduate of the Hoff-Barthelson Music School and is currently a senior at Skidmore College. Throughout his musical journey he has studied French horn under instructors such as Karen Froehlich, Darlene Kaukoranta and Patrice Malatestinic, as well as composition under Joseph Piscatelli and Dr. Evan Mack.

Joshua has collaborated as a student composer with a number of groups such as Carnegie Hall's Ensemble Connect and Grammy Award winning ensemble Sō Percussion. His latest piece "Sonoravia" was performed by the Skidmore College Orchestra, conducted by himself. Joshua has also had several other performances of and recordings of his compositions such as "Swirls in the Wind" for string quartet, "Frenzy" for horn quintet, "Elysian Dreams" for solo cello and orchestra, "Prelude to Butterfly Lovers" for soprano and piano, and others.

In addition to his composition work, Joshua served as music director and conductor for the Westchester Brassmen Drum and Bugle Corps from 2022 to 2025. He also plays French horn with various ensembles including the Schenectady-Saratoga Symphony Orchestra, Excelsior Symphony Orchestra, New York-Vermont Wind Symphony, Skidmore College Orchestra, and Skidmore College Concert Band.

Acknowledgements

I would like to thank David Bodemann and Erik Contzius for teaching me to love and appreciate music at such a young age. I would like to thank Karen Froehleich for changing my life by putting a French horn in my hands. I would like to thank Rachel Ostreicher for teaching me horn in my early years. I would like to thank Robert Sachs for teaching me for free, bright and early every single Tuesday morning without fail. I would like to thank Darlene Kaukoranta for being such a stellar teacher for so many years, even during the pandemic. I would like to thank Joseph Piscatelli for inspiring me to compose my own symphonies. I would like to thank Deanna Loetscher for encouraging me to share my compositions with the world. I would like to thank Patrice Malatestinic for going out of her way to make my horn playing come to life both in and beyond her studio. I would like to thank Evan Mack for teaching me so much, fighting for me, and giving me so many opportunities no matter how many times I drove him crazy. I would like to thank my mother, Debbie Feldman, because without her none of my music would have ever been able to come to life.
